SOCIETY

The Junior-Senior Affair.

The Annual Junior-Senior reception was held at the High school Wednesday night. The main hall was decorated for the occasion in old rose and black, the senior class colors, and was made home-like with rugs and cushions. The hall itself was decorated with sea-foam and palms while the first landing, which was used as a stage, was hung with ivy and ferns, among which were entwined purple and orange, the junior colors. Punch was served during the evening by Jack Balderree and Herbert Shepherd from a booth of ferns. The evening was spent in playing games, but the one which caused the most amusement was the mock commencement in which each senior was obliged to do some "stunt" before receiving a diploma. One of the best of these was a parody sung by Elva Lucas which ran, "Philogia will shine tonight, Philogia will shine. When the goat comes down and Adephia's mule goes up, Philogia will shine." A light lunch was served and after singing "The Orange and the Black," the guests departed saying the Juniors were royal entertainers. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ford, Miss Horner, Dora Hayes, Miss MacDonald Margeriete Krietle, Pauline Coad, Louise Miles, Elva Lucas, Dovie Odom, Georgia Ellis, Goldie Bissell, Marie Griffin, Lucile Hamilton, Dorothy Bennett, Marjorie Bennett, Muriel Grant, Meriam Hart, Birdie Odom, Lolo Ramsey, Susie Ramsey, Vera Wagner, Miss Sheridan, Alfreda Garner, Elsie Frizzell, Millie Skersies, Ada Blodgett, Laird Woods, Fred Gooch, Glen Brock, Hershal Prichard, Harold Miller, Herbert Shepherd, Ernest Hoisington, Edward Preston, Guy Steiger, Elmer Balderee, Joe Helgerson, Oscar Peterson, Russell Shepherd.

Curtis are exchanging pastorates, owing to the desire of the former to take treatment from a specialist at Salem for ear trouble. Rev. Brook is well known here, having been identified with Rev. Curtis last winter in evangelical work, and though the congregation of the Christian church here greatly deprecates the temporary loss of Rev. Curtis, the new pastor will find a warm welcome awaiting him here.

Christian Science services will be held at 11 a. m. in City Bank Building. Subject of lesson-sermon, "God the Preserver of Man."

At the morning services at the Evangelical church the pastor, Rev. C. P. Gates will take "The Mightiness of Childhood" for his theme. Children's day exercises will be held in the evening, other services as usual.

MODERNIZE ANCIENT PLAY.

The "Merchant of Venice" as Presented by Senior Class.

The High School Senior class day exercises of last evening, except a solo by Louise Miles, consisted of a play, "The Merchant of Venice Up to Date," which included most of the Senior class. Considerable liberties were taken with this classic play, it abounding in local hits. Shylock, in the person of Herman Hawkins, was a gambler and a friend of Tubal, Lyn Matheney, captain of the Independence football team. Ray Boydston, as Antonio, and his friends, Fred Gooch as Bassanio, and Hershal Pritchard as Gratiano, decide to borrow "Ponies" from Shylock in order to pass the Latin examination, which Bassanio, a suitor of Portia, Elva Lucas, must pass in order to fulfill the will of her eccentric father and win her hand.

Three caskets, containing questions on Caesar, Cicero and Virgil respectively are placed on the table as per the original. Antonio has only been able to get a "pony" for Caesar of Shylock for his friend Bassanio, as no football player has ever gone farther than that in Latin. Bassanio must then choose this casket or fail. He chose the casket inscribed, "Who chooses me will get it in the neck," which proves to be the Caesar casket. And in spite of the watchfulness of a schoolmistress, Miss Abby Threedice, Frieda Neal, succeeds by the aid of his "pony" in passing the exam.

In the meantime, Shylock has proposed to and been rejected by his ward, Jessica. He locks her up, but by the aid of his servant, Launcelot Gobbo, Harold Miller, she escapes and marries her lover, Antonio. Shylock, in his bond, exacts "a pound of hair nearest the brain" of Antonio in case his friend Bassanio fails to return the "pony" in a month. The "pony" is not returned and he determines to exact the fearful penalty on the day that the great Thanksgiving game between Independence and Dallas is played. In the midst of the game he is arrested and taken into court. Bassanio begs of Shylock to take his hair instead, but Antonio replies that as he is a senior this is his last year anyway, and Bassanio must keep it so he may lead the team in future.

In the courtroom scene the disguised Portia decides that Shylock must have his bond, but begs that he will employ a barber to do it smoothly. Not being in the bond Shylock refuses this, but again the young judge, Portia, declares that as the hair must be removed nearest the brain a specialist must be called to locate the brain.

Arthur Miles, as Prof. Sweigenhaugenblumenheimer, P. H. D., L. L. D., A. S. S. P. D. L., is called and with an Xray instrument finds he has no brains. Before the court recovered from its consternation, Gabbo lets loose a mouse he has found in a trap. Portia and Nerissa jump on chairs, loose their caps and disclose their identity, while Laird Woods as policeman leads off Shylock.

Elva Lucas as Portia, Pauline Coad as Jessica, and Davie Odom as Gobbo's mother deserve especial mention, while Harold Miller kept the audience in a gale of merriment by his pranks, and Herman Hawkins as Shylock, and Fred Gooch were both good. Fred West coached the players.
