

MAKE A NOTE OF THIS

ELIMINATE WEEDS FROM DIRT BY THIS PROCESS.

Cheap and Effective Method Recommended by the Agricultural Department.

There being a movement in Dallas to eradicate the persistent growth of weeds it may be timely to mention that oil or salt are the most satisfactory harmless products to use for the purpose.

The most economical and effective way to use the oil is to make a number of comparatively light applications. One heavy application may effect the roots as well as the tops of the plants, but the several light applications kill the foliage each time and eventually the roots die.

Common salt is not so effective as oil on grass and narrow-leaved vegetation, but is better than arsenite of soda. When the vegetation is very rank, salt will be found very desirable and should be used at the rate of from two to three tons per acre, depending upon the rankness of the growth.

Vegetation with broad leaves seems especially susceptible to arsenite of soda. The commercial grade may be obtained at about 25 cents a pound from some of the wholesale chemists.

To sum up: We have every reason to believe that neither the planets nor the moon can have any appreciable effect on the weather, because they furnish so little heat upon which all weather changes ultimately depend, and this belief is fully supported by weather records.

PLANETS PLAY NO PART

MOON AND PLANETS HAVE NO INFLUENCE ON WEATHER.

Agricultural Department at Washington Gives Black Eye to a Common Superstition.

Astrology is branded as a superstition by the department of agriculture in its current weekly news letter. Discussing the question of whether the planets affect the weather, the department declared "the belief still to be found in all countries that the planets and the moon do affect the weather never had any scientific basis whatever; it is only a remnant of the many superstitions generated and fostered by that other greater superstition, astrology."

"None of the planets, nor even the moon, ever has any appreciable effect on the weather. As a matter of fact, all weather changes depend ultimately upon temperature differences. The temperature, as we know, constitutes of itself a most important weather factor. Another and equally important weather factor is rainfall. But to obtain rain it is necessary first to evaporate water from the surface of the earth, and this, as every one knows, requires heat. Still another important weather factor is the direction of the wind, and this, too, requires heat, for the winds will not blow unless the temperature is different at one place from what it is at another any more than the air will draw up a chimney when there is no fire in it.

"Since then the heating of different parts of the earth and its atmosphere to different temperatures is the real cause of the winds and of all weather changes, it follows that the moon and the planets can affect the weather only so far as they supply heat.

"Now, according to accurate measurements made with the most delicate instruments, the amount of heat sent to the earth by all the planets and also by the moon is insignificant in comparison to the amount that comes from the sun. Hence we could not expect either the planets or the moon appreciably to affect the weather. They do not supply enough heat, the one thing that causes all our weather changes.

"To most people the above reasoning may seem quite sufficient and conclusive, but there is still another and an entirely different method of testing the whole question. We can observe the positions of the planets and the kind of weather during each position and see whether the same sort of weather always comes when the planets are in the same position. This kind of examination has often been made, both for the planets and for the moon, but not the slightest influence of either upon our weather has ever been found.

"To sum up: We have every reason to believe that neither the planets nor the moon can have any appreciable effect on the weather, because they furnish so little heat upon which all weather changes ultimately depend, and this belief is fully supported by weather records."

BE A BOOSTER.

If you like the old town best Tell 'em so. If you'd have her lead the rest Help her grow. When there's anything to do Let the fellows count on you. You'll feel bully when it's through, Don't you know!

If you want to make a hit Get a name. If the other fellow's it Whose to blame?

Spend your money in the town Where you pull the shekels down, Give the man who kicks a frown, That's the game!

If you're used to giving knocks Change your style. Throw bouquets instead of rocks For awhile.

Let the other fellow roast. Shun him as you would a ghost. Meet his hammer with a boast And a smile.

When a stranger from afar Comes along Tell him who and what we are. Make it strong. Needn't flatter; never bluff. Tell the truth, for that's enough. Join the boosters—they're the stuff! We belong. —Cincinnati Tribune.

Seven Sacrifice Cuticle.

Seven Medford society women, whose names are withheld, gave 150 square inches of skin from their bodies to save the life of little Sarah Green, aged three years, who was seriously burned while playing with matches at the 401 Ranch, three weeks ago. The doctor who performed the operation declared the woman were heroines. None of them took an anesthetic for the operation and all were averse to any praise or publicity.

Bonds of School Clerks.

The bonds of school clerks must be double the amount of money it is estimated they will handle. The bonds must be approved by the school boards and the county school superintendent. The directors, however, are not liable because of an error in estimating the amount of the money to be in the custody of the clerks in case of loss. This is the verdict of the attorney general.
