

NOW LIVING IN NEW YORK.

If Woman's Claim Can Be Established a Contest Will Be Made—Prince Rudolph and Marie Vetsera Were Found Mysteriously Shot in Austria in 1889.

New York.—Out of the confusion that has arisen from the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, and his morganatic wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, arises the interesting report that a small boy, now being educated in the United States, will lay claim to the throne of Austria.

This boy is Rudolph, son of Mrs. Alma Vetsera Hayne, who claims she is the daughter of Crown Prince Rudolph and Marie Vetsera, who were found dead together in a hunting lodge at Meyerling, Austria, in 1889.

Mrs. Hayne, who married a Canadian stockbroker, George Osborne Hayne, and subsequently divorced him, has persisted that she is the offspring of the morganatic union of Prince Rudolph and Marie Vetsera, and she named her son after the man she claims for her sire.

The probability of formal claim now being made to the Austrian succession on behalf of this boy is all the stronger because of the persistence with which the aged emperor of Austria contends for an unbroken line of Hapsburgs. When Crown Prince Rudolph contracted his morganatic marriage he forced him to renounce all claim to the throne, offering the succession to his own brother, Carl Ludwig. When Ludwig declined the honor the succession was passed along to the latter's son, Francis Ferdinand, who was slain the other day.

When Francis Ferdinand contracted his morganatic marriage the emperor made him renounce all right to the throne for his possible heirs. His death, Mrs. Hayne now believes, opens the way clearly for the claims of her son, Rudolph, and there is every reason to believe that she intends pushing them.

Mrs. Hayne is a beautiful Austrian and came to this country for the first time about twelve years ago. She asserts that she is the child of the tragic love affair which resulted in the deaths of Prince Rudolph and Marie Vetsera. She says her husband often declared that she was the "truest of all the Hapsburgs."

On June 5 Mrs. Hayne returned to this country and told several of the passengers aboard the liner that she had decided to renounce her title of Princess Vetsera and that she expected to live in America so that she might educate her son in the way she wishes.

"I don't want to live any more on the other side," she declared. "There are too many unhappy associations with Europe for me. I am building a home in New York, and I intend to make a home that I can enjoy in the real sense."

This woman has had rather a romantic life, especially since she first came to the United States. After being wooed by many suitors she finally married George Osborne Hayne in Toronto in 1897, but three years later Hayne sued for divorce, naming Justin B. McDougall, son of a Canadian capitalist. This trouble, however, came to an end when McDougall's father had him arrested, and he was interred in an insane asylum. When Hayne heard of this he hurried to New York to effect a reconciliation with his wife.
