SECOND MONTHLY EVENT.

Committee Provides Accommodations For Everything That May Be Brought-Urges Attendance.

The importance of the occasion REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS makes it permissible to again call attention through these columns to the monthly Sales day, which will be held in this city on Saturday, November 27, and for which the committee in charge has completed all the necessary arrangements to make it the unqualified success it should be. It only remains for residents of the rural realm to do their part and expectations will be met. Farmers of the county are urged to come to Dallas on this day, and bring with them something they wish to dispose of. The committee will afford all an opportunity to drive their own bargains, and failing in this the article will be sold at auction without cost to the owner. Attorney Walter L. BOWERS CASE ON AGAIN. Fight For Custody of Child Goes to

Supreme Court,
After many months since the bill of exceptions was prepared and an apof exceptions was prepared and an appeal granted, the much-discussed Bower's case is to be heard by the Supreme court at Salem on December 1. This case was tried before Judge Belt last February and he denied the mother, Mrs. Mollie Bowers, the custody of her four-year-old child which was in the keeping of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Grant. In his opinion Judge Belt said that the child could not have as good a home with its mother $10.27 a have as good a home with its mother as with Mr. and Mrs. Grant, and he ordered that it remain in their care. The case was brought into the Polk county courts from the juvenile court at Portland. The latter is said to have taken jurisdiction over the child in 1913, and that an order was made in 1913, and that an order was made by Judge Gatens making the child a dependent and a temporary was of the court. Mrs. Bowers was given temporary custody of the child by another order of Judge Gatens, according to the petition for writ filed by Mrs. Bowers at the time of the

A. C. Snyder Determines Percentage of Accuracy Automatically.

It is just possible that a little time, energy and talent have conspired to make A. C. Snyder famous. Some time ago Mr. Snyder, who has been employed by the Oregon Power company for several years, tired of the task and waste of time necessitated by figuring out the percentage of accuracy after reading an electric light meter. He solved the situation by inventing or constructing, with pen, ink and ideas, a chart that automatically gives the percentage of accuracy. The chart is a simple circular design with a conglomeration of figures that would startle most any one except an electric light and on November 12, with Miss Ella ard on November 13, the school beard.
