While crossing the railroad bridge just west of Falls City, Will Wood, wife and Mrs. L. M. Robertson and two children had a very narrow escape from being run over by the motor car from Black Rock, says The News. They were about half way across and looking down at the water and did not hear the approach of the train until it was almost on them and barely had time to jump to the side and cling to the braces at the side of the bridge. Owing to a sharp curve in the track the engineer did not see them until it was too late to stop the car before it was onto them.

3.
