The Range Problem and Its Solution

Housewives have long been wanting a more modern and convenient range—a range that is not only well built but also one that will save work and worry and make the kitchen work more pleasant. This demand can at last be supplied by the Leonard Hi-Oven Range which offers the true solution of the problem.

Kitchens now-a-days are small. Thus the need for a small range. The model 48-18 Leonard Hi-Oven Range supplies this demand exactly and yet it has ample cooking surface and a large 18-inch oven.

The elevated oven is a wonderful convenience. No stooping—no backaches. The fire-proof glass door is a big advantage too. You can see your baking without opening the oven door.

The natural way for heat to travel is upward. That's why our oven heats so quickly. The baffle plate distributes the heat evenly so that the oven bakes perfectly. No need to turn the baking.

All housewives have enough to worry about without bothering with a complicated range. That is why we make our range so simple to operate. Also it is very easy to keep clean. The nickeling is smooth and castings are enameled—no blackening.

Our draft construction is a wonderful improvement. The air is heated to at least 500 degrees before it passes through the grates. This means more perfect combustion, less soot and dirt and less fuel.

The Leonard Hi-Oven Range can be furnished with Waterbury gallon Copper Reservoir. Your old range taken in exchange.
