TO DECIDE BASKETBALL TITLE.

Dallas Scouts and Corvallis Tigers Tied; Neutral Ground Favored.

The 125-pound basketball championship of the Willamette valley will soon be decided if the Dallas Boy Scouts and the Corvallis Baby Tigers can decide upon some neutral floor as the scene of the game.

The local team was dissatisfied with the referee at Corvallis where they were defeated by the Tigers 24 to 20. The boys say their teamwork was entirely overcome by the official's whistle; when they would approach the basket a foul would usually be called. The first half ended with Dallas on the long end but the Corvallis quintet nosed out the winner.

That makes the count one and one, and both teams are anxious to settle the championship. The game will take place in the near future. Walter Craven, Ray Smith, Donald Hayes, Charlie Hayter and George Smith played for the Scouts.
