

Local and Personal.

Mrs. Hattie Whitney is having her house painted.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Mulkey spent Sunday in Dallas.

J. H. Hawley made a business trip to Portland Wednesday.

Mrs. Paul Cone visited friends and relatives in McMinnville this week.

S. R. Crowley, of Crowley's Station, was seen on our streets Tuesday.

C. C. Lewis and sister started for their home on the Siletz last Thursday.

P. E. Chase paid a business visit to the metropolis the first of the week.

Misses Cassie Stump and Agnes Campbell have returned from a short stay in Eugene.

Postmaster Wolverson went to McMinnville Monday and secured 40 new boxes for the office.

Mrs. Willard Long, of Corvallis, visited her mother, Mrs. Burkhead Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Effie S'ore has returned from a weeks stay with Albany friends and has entered the Normal.

M. E. Wheelock was a business visitor in Independence Tuesday and gave the editor a lift on the road home.

There is one thing about the Herald that is worthy of consideration—it is not filled with patent medicine ads.

J. Lindsay and family have moved into Miss Etta Smith's residence which she has had remodeled and painted.

Norman H. Gerky, of Albany, was visiting the fore part of the week with T. A. Riggs and wife. He is a cousin of Mrs. Riggs.

H. B. Waggoner, of Newport, came over Sunday and visited with his brother, W. R. Waggoner, of the Perkins Pharmacy.

J. E. Winegar & Co., have a lot of good second hand sewing machines, taken in exchange for the White, that they will sell cheap.

T. C. Allen, whom many here will remember, is still employed as principal of the Grangeville, California, schools. He and Mrs. Allen spent their vacation at Santa Catalina.

H. A. Newman presented the Herald with some fine Bartlett pears and potatoes Monday. The pears were the largest we have seen for many years and the flavor was excellent. The potatoes were good enough for any country and above the average as to quality. They were a new variety called Hood River.

Definite plans are being prepared for athletics at the Normal and a coach for basket ball, foot ball and other games will be secured and the outlook for some good teams seems promising. Plans are also being perfected for a town and school team together and we hope to see some good games during the winter.

The literary societies at the Normal have been organized for the year and all began with a general jollification last Friday evening. The Normal will give special attention to the study of parliamentary law in all its phases while debating, as usual, will have a strong place on the program. The practice of secret initiations will be continued as the result was found to be advantageous rather than detrimental last year. The societies bid fair for a splendid years work.

Get Westfall to do your paper hanging.

Henry Ebbert is moving down this week from Philomath.

The board of equalization will meet in Dallas October 19.

K. C. Williamson visited at the home of J. L. Murphy Sunday.

Bogert & Son are putting the roof on their new warehouse this week.

County Assessor C. S. Graves was a business visitor in our city Wednesday.

The show troupe were guests at Hotel Hampton during their stay here.

Misses Bessie Foster and Emma Kramer leave Friday for their schools in Salem.

Miss Opal Boothby is attending the street fair and carnival in McMinnville this week.

The R. M. Wade people believe in the virtues of printers ink. See their ads in this issue.

John Orr, wife and daughter, visited with Mrs. Orr's mother, Mrs. Irene Dalton, last Sunday.

E. H. Hosner is remodeling his dwelling this week and will have an uptodate building when it is finished.

Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, of Portland, were here the first of the week visiting with T. J. Pettit and family.

Joseph Wright is improving the appearance of his house by adding porches and putting on a new coat of paint.

Monroe Mulkey and wife went to McMinnville the first of the week to visit relatives and take in the carnival at that place.

Miss Leota Foster has been elected principal of the Ballston school for the ensuing term. This is her second year at that place.

Mrs. Walter Phillippi, who has been visiting her parents near Rickreall and other relatives here, returned to her home in Eugene the first of the week.

Bert Lucas, of Portland, spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. F. E. Lucas. Mr. Lucas is a former Monmouth boy and is now an engineer on the Dallas local.

A man near Oregon City recently offered the fruit inspector one dollar apiece for every wormy apple found in his orchard. He has sprayed three times this summer with arsenate of lead. Try it next summer and see if you can do as well.

Monmouth needs a woodsaw. There is a big lot of wood consumed here every year and we have to depend on Independence woodsaws to get it cut. Something like 2500 cords are used here annually. The money paid out for sawing wood could then be spent at home. Patronize home industries and build up your town.

There were 57 people at work in the cannery last week and 23 in the dryer. The payroll is about $400 weekly which makes a very nice thing for the town. After the pears are done there will be several days canning on Silver prunes. Unless more fruit than is anticipated comes in, the canning season will close the last of this week or the first of next. There has been several tons of pears dried in the evaporator and prunes are coming fast now. The evaporator has a capacity of about five hundred bushels per day of 24 hours.

Mrs. M. E. Percival, of Madras, and Mrs. Hattie Whitney were pleasant callers at this office Monday. Mrs. Percival left on the afternoon train for Portland where she will visit with relatives for a few days before returning to her home in Crook county. She thinks that the country tributary to Madras is the best in the state.

Mrs. T. J. Pettit and Mrs. T. J. Berry are the champions when it comes to preparing pears for the evaporator. Tuesday they cored and spread twenty-five boxes in less than four hours, notwithstanding the fact that one is an ardent democrat and the other a radical republican. It is needless to say, however, that either took time to expatiate on the multitudinous good qualities of her favorite candidate during the pear spreading period.

Bogert & Son have received a fine lot of carpets, lace curtains and art squares that are worth while looking at. They will have a big ad in next issue.

Kenneth Campbell came home Saturday from a weeks stay at the fair. He reports one of the best fairs that Oregon has ever held and that he had a most enjoyable time hobnobbing with old acquaintances. While there he was conversing with one of his friends who had attended fairs in nearly all of the different states, who made the statement that Oregon had as good a fair as any of them and in some respects better. Oregon livestock will compare favorably with any, not only in the United States, but with any country in the world.
