The Mustard Jar.

When hauling loads to market don't leave the stone in the road with which you block the wheel. Throw it aside.

A young society woman likes to get on to a new wrinkie, while the older ones endeavor to get rid of it,

Some men don't scrub out the bathtub after taking a bath, so Martha has to do it.

There are many men who do not place a true valuation upon their wives until they have lost them, and are obliged to hire only moderately interested housekeepers to whom they must pay real wages.

Lest we forget, the man with a bunch of bills comes round once in awhile just to remind us that life is not all milk and honey.

The peculiarity of the intelligence of some people is its imperceptibility.

What kind of essence does a young man like when he pops the question? Acquiessence.

The man who is worthy of being a leader of men will never complain of the stupidity of his helpers, of the ingratitude, of mankind, nor of the inappreciation of the public. These things are all a part of the great game of life, and to meet them and not go down before them in discouragement and defeat is the final proof of power.

A self confessed saint is more open to suspicion than a self confessed sinner.

Funny that while nobody really wants to buy a gold brick it always finds ready sale.
