Radek & Smith desire through the columns of the Herald, to express their heartfelt gratitude to the friends and neighbors who fought so hard to save their property on the night of the fire.

Graham & Son have requested the Herald to express their sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors who helped save their lively barn and especially to those who risked their lives to save the dwelling, during the fire last Friday night.

The insurance companies for which V. O. Boots is agent are very prompt in making payments. The bakery fire occurred Friday night and Monday the matter had been adjusted and the money paid in full.

Radek & Smith feel very grateful to the insurance companies represented by V. O. Boots. The adjuster found only one fault with the firm and that was that they had not carried enough insurance on their stock; something very unusual for an insurance adjuster. No deductions were made for the stock saved.

Mrs. J. F. Powell died at the Salem hospital Monday of tumor on the brain, after a long illness. She was formerly Miss Augusta Mulkey and was born at Monmouth in 1881. She was married to J. F. Powell in June 1905. Interment was in the Monmouth cemetery Wednesday afternoon. A more extended funeral notice will appear next issue.

C. H. Gwin has taken charge of the laundry and will manage it for P. H. Johnson this winter.

Carl Gardner and Harrison Brant left Monday for Hood River where they expect to pack apples.

Charley Doughty, one of Polk county's pioneer printers, assisted with the kicking on this issue of the Herald.

Mrs. Brewster is having the building adjoining the butcher shop, fitted up and will occupy it with a home bakery.

A. B. Morlan returned home from Corvallis, where he has been employed in a grocery store. He will remain in Monmouth for the present.

We have received many nice things to eat since we started the Herald, but the nicest we have ever received since we have been in the business was sent to this office Saturday by "Grandma" Lucas. It consisted of several fine peaches and a dozen fine figs, all grown in Monmouth. The peaches were seedlings and were as finely flavored as the famous Elberta. The smallest one measured a trifle less than eight and one-half inches in circumference, while the largest one measured nine and one-half inches. As grapes of very fair quality can be raised here, one can as literally sit under his own vine and fig tree in this country as he could in olden times in far Judea's vales.

Social Hour Club.

The Social Hour Club met last week and began work for the coming year. The retiring officers were re-elected arrangements were completed with reference to books, etc. The attendance was good and all seemed quite enthusiastic.

This will be the fourth year of the Club's organization and promises to be a very successful, as well as a pleasant one.
