Among other items of business the society pledged $10 per year toward the support of an Italian Mission in Portland. Miss Lulu Peterson was received as a member, and the names of Misses Bessie Peterson and Alta Evans were proposed and will be voted upon at the next meeting.

After the transaction of the business of the society there was music by the phonograph, games and a general good time.

A dainty lunch, consisting of sandwiches, pickles and doughnuts, was served by the hostess. There were between thirty and forty present, and all reported an excellent time. The society aims to make these business and social gatherings a feature of its work. They are held at intervals of about two months. The next will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Heffley.

be held on Saturday, March 6 at 2 p. m. at the cannery building.

It is earnestly desired that all who are interested in fruit growing will join in the organization. One object of the association will be to study what to grow and how to grow it, and to this end it is planned to secure leading horticulturists of the state to make addresses at the meetings.

It has been proven time and again that $100 dollars an acre and more can be made growing berries that are in demand for canning. Is it not then worth while to organize to promote an industry that brings quick returns and good profits to those that intelligently engage in it.

Let all who are interested remember the date of the next meeting and be on hand.
