J. E. WINEGAR & CO.

LOCAL AND STATE NEWS

J. Nichols is moving to his farm on the Santiam northeast of Albany.

Mrs. Paul Cone went to McMinnville Monday for a visit with relatives.

Miss Edith Wolverton leaves today for Astoria where she goes to visit friends.

Graham and son now have a fine span of greys that they purchased from J. Nichols.

K. H. Sickafoose will move to a farm near Perrydale next week, where he has a position.

Wm. Fugate reports having a fine lot of oats this year. Two lots averaged over 100 pounds to the sack.

Gene Bogert and Phil Johnson have resumed their wonted smiles since their wives have returned from their visit at Albany.

Mrs. T. J. Beery and her sister Emma Kramer, left yesterday morning for Newport where they will enjoy the sea breezes.

Mrs. Craven, a sister of Mrs. J. E. Winegar, who has been visiting here for several days, returned to her home in Corvallis Tuesday.

Clint Hodge and family, of Shelton, Wash., arrived here Wednesday for a visit with his sister, Mrs. J. E. Winegar. Members of the Winegar family are gathering together for a family reunion at Corvallis next week.

J. B. V. Butler and Dr. O. D. Butler, of Independence, returned home the first of the week from their trip into eastern Oregon. We hope to be able to give an interview with J. B. V. in our next issue. They report a fine time.

Mrs. K. H. Sickafoose had the misfortune to fall off the porch at her home last week and received some severe injuries, but is now able to be out again. Her husband was summoned from Simpson's logging camp and made the trip out on foot.

E. W. Strong sold his drugstore this week to Dr. Bowersox. The Doctor is a firstclass druggist and will look after the business himself, being assisted in sales department by his wife. We bespeak for the new firm the trade of all who want firstclass treatment and their prescriptions filled by a druggist who is neither a booze fighter nor a dope fiend.

Dr. Laura Price, late of Chicago Post-graduate Medical School, has located in Monmouth and is fitting up rooms in the postoffice block, is a valuable addition to Monmouth. The Doctor has had twelve years experience as instructor where they teach post-graduate work to physicians, therefore we believe she is better qualified in her particular line of work than physician's who have not had this experience.

Miss Lottie Montgomery, who has been attending summer school returned from teachers examination Friday evening and thinking that a little experience in setting type would be beneficial, tried her hand at that this week. The first day she set one and one-fourth galleys, which is about as much as the average apprentice gets done in a week. She will leave soon for her home in Crook Co. where she will teach during the coming year.

Postmaster Wolverton is back from a weeks stay at Newport and reports having had a fine time and he looks it. His nose and face are sunburned to a turn and his lips look as if they had come in contact with the notorious Chicago kissing bug, although it has not been reported as present on the coast by the weather bureau. However we are glad to get him back. He reports Ira Powell having acquired some large and interesting blisters on his hands while chasing down a mess of fine Rock oysters.
