R. M. and D. M. Odell, of Brighton, Michigan, were in Monmouth, the latter part of last week looking at this section of country with a view to locating.

C. E. Cornelius will have some new buildings constructed for his poultry. We understand that he will go into poultry raising quite extensively. He has some 250 fowls now and will stock up to seven or eight hundred.

T. A. Riggs has sold his store in this place to Portland parties, who are expected to take charge next week. While we like to see new additions to Monmouth's business field, we are loath to part with old ones and are sorry to see Mr. Riggs go elsewhere.

Dr. J. I. Russell of Lostine, Oregon, arrived here last Saturday, to cast his lot in with the citizens of Monmouth, and has entered into partnership with Dr. Matthis for the practice of medicine. The card of Drs. Matthis and Russell will be found in another column.

Someone who has been thoughtless of his own welfare and that of others, has been trying his hand at knocking off the glass bulbs from the street lights. Acts of this nature become crime and the perpetrator can be punished severely, so it might be well to desist, especially as it is pretty well known who the party is who has destroyed the lamps.

So far as heard from W. H. Robertson has the champion apple. It is of the Gloria Mundi variety, weighs two pounds and four ounces, and is seventeen inches in circumference the smallest way round. The sick man who ate 16 apple dumplings would never be able to get outside sixteen made from whole apples, like this, at one feed. Bring out your big apples?

Monarch Malleable the "Stay Satisfaction" Range needs no Introduction, as it is sold on its merits. Every range is put out on trial. If you are thinking of purchasing a range do not fail to call at R. M. Wade & Co., and inspect the points that these goods have above all other ranges.

Dr. J. I. Russell who has been practicing medicine here for the last three months, will leave the latter part of this week for Monmouth, where he will locate with Dr. Matthis, a former classmate of his. While Dr. Russell likes this location he thinks he owes to himself the benefits which will accrue from the change. Since coming here Dr. Russell has made warm friends of all his acquaintances, who regret very much his departure.—Lostine Reporter.

School Convention

The Annual Convention of School Officers of Polk County will be held at the County Court House in Dallas, Sat. Nov. 6, 1909. A list of subjects that are of great interest to the schools of the county will be discussed at this meeting and State Sup't. J. H. Ackerman, who is so well known to every school officer in the county, will be present and will take part in the discussions.

The school officers' convention which first originated in this county under Sup't. C. L. Starr has become a State wide movement and the legislature has passed a law by which the delegate from each district attending, shall receive as compensation $2, many of the school laws now of the State, were first discussed and recommended by the School Officers' Convention of the different counties and Old Polk has always been in the lead in this good work.

At the convention this year there are subjects to be brought up that will be discussed all over the State within the next two years, and for this reason if there were no others, every school officer in the county should be present, and by all means every district should have a representative at the convention.

T. W. Brunk President of the Association and Sup't. H. C. Seymour Secretary have been working on the plans for this convention for some time and they believe that this will be one of the best meetings ever held in this county or the state.

Others who are interested in the education of the boys and girls of the county are invited to be present and help to better the school conditions of the county.

Wind Wheelbarrows.

One of the strangest sights in China is the wind wheelbarrow. It is drawn by a donkey, and when the wind is fair a sail is set. The wheel turns in the middle of a wooden frame, sustained by iron bars. Upon the frame are hung all kinds of utensils. The donkey is generally mounted by the paterfamilias, the son and heir is at the stern assisting all he can, while the mother and younger ones ride on the vehicle.

The Truth Forced Home.

"Why?" he asked.

"When I go to the grocery now the clerks don't nearly break their necks trying to beat one another in getting my orders."—Exchange.

Too Eminent.

"Why don't you ask your office boy to wash those windows?"

"I ain't got the nerve to do it, old man. He was the valedictorian of his class."—Washington Herald.

Innocence is better than repentance, an unswilled life better than pardon.—Rinney.
