Dr. Allen, dentist, Cooper Building Independence Oregon. Both phones. 19-1f.

Have you got any of those bargains at the Furniture store. Look at their new advertisement.

W. A. Strong and T. A. Riggs of this place bought a 230 acre farm four miles from Dallas this week paying $4,000 for the same.

Grove A. Peterson one of our real estate dealers has a small lot of the finest looking apples in his show window that we have ever seen, or at least, remember about. They are of the Spitzenburg variety, are not extra large but the coloring is as beautiful as a picture, in fact art could hardly excel it.

Mr. H. H. Glassford, a prominent citizen of Corvallis, was in Monmouth this week, looking around and expressed surprise at seeing so many good buildings, beautiful homes, and nice locations. He expressed confidence in Monmouth's chance to again secure the Normal School, and remarked that it was a mistake as to Corvallis desiring to reach after the Normal School, but that instead her citizens would give their influence to aid Monmouth.

J. A. Willett, who works in Simpson's logging camp, was in town Monday.

Rev. George C. Ritchie was down from Newberg last Friday. He was accompanied by a gentleman who came down to look at some property Mr. Ritchie owns here.

Miss Minnie Luceford of Monmouth was in these parts Thursday.

Mrs. E. Clark and son Frank made a special trip to the Capital City Friday.

Joe Howsmon has been plowing for William Riddell, Jr., on his place at Elkins.

George Swearingen and Allie Griffith made a business trip to Rickreall Saturday.

Mrs. Glover and daughter Maud of Mistletoe were shopping in the Herald City Saturday.

Roy Johnson spent last week with his sister, Mrs. Dick Ogle and family of Lewisville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Williams lately wedded couple are spending their honeymoon at Newport.

Vardemon Scott and two daughters, who visited relatives in this community for a week returned to their home at Salem Saturday.

Among those who were trading in Monmouth Saturday are Milt Bosley, John Walker, James Goodman, Tom Marks, Roy Clark, Jess Johnson and Henry Lehman.

Kill Large Cougar

While inspecting timber on the Fisher place in the hills west of Dallas, Sunday, Ed. Jacobson, Arthur Dimick and Homer Holman scared up a large cougar in a dense growth of under brush. The big cat immediately took to a tree, where two of the boys stood watch until a gun could be secured from a neighboring farm house. Returning a few minutes later with the weapon, a shotgun, Mr. Jacobson brought the animal to the ground with a well-directed shot. The cougar measured seven feet from tip to tip, and weighed 150 pounds. The boys brought the great cat to town and set him up in a very life like position on the courthouse lawn, where for a few hours yesterday afternoon he attracted the interest and attention of many curious spectators. It was a noticeable fact that while the carcass was on display, the bunch of town dogs that disport themselves on the lawn every afternoon were conspicuous by their absence.—Observer.

Surveyors are working on the electric line south of Forest Grove and the impression prevails that the line will parallel the S. P. road as far as McMinnville at least. It is then an open question whether it continues south to Dallas and Corvallis or branch up the Yamhill river with the coast as the objective point. It seems quite certain Sheridan is in line for an electric road at no far distant day.—Sheridan Sun.
