FURBISH THE JEWELS.

In casting the mind over the features of the entertainment given here Friday evening of last week, with the purpose of looking out wherein persons might be benefited by such amusement, several features stand out clearly in showing advantages.

In the first place doctors agree that a good laugh is beneficial and there is no doubt but that it is, as the mind is carried away from the cares and worry of life and forgetfulness for the time, and with recurring thought to the incident, giving rest from other thoughts and conditions.

Then there are the lessons to be learned by example. The boy or girl, or the man or woman either, for that matter, who is studiously inclined, can find much to encourage them for they meet with and have before them one who has, by cultivating the natural gifts bestowed upon him, arisen to the position where he can amuse an audience at will.

Mr. Kendall has a natural gift in his splendid voice it is true, and we would not expect one not so gifted would rise to his calling, but in each lump of humanity there is a jewel buried and it is only necessary that the polishing process is applied in order that the gem may give out its illumination.

We very much doubt the propriety of using great talent for purposes of entertainment only, as it seems to us that persons so endowed should have higher ambitions and should use their influence to uplift humanity, to build up and encourage men and women and youths to greater endeavor and grander heights of usefulness, rather than resorting to an order of amusement some of which is questionable as to propriety.

Individuals have the shaping of their own lives to a certain extent, at least, and it is the amount of energy used in thought and purpose that will bring out the talents buried within them. It takes grinding to bring out the brilliance of the gem.

Teacher's Institute a Success.

A very successful Teachers' Institute was held at Independence last Saturday at the Public School Building.

On Friday night State Sup't. J. H. Ackerman and Dr. R. Alderman each gave an address at the Opera house to a good audience of teachers from the county and citizens of Independence.

Sup't. Ackerman spoke along the lines of school conditions and contended that any school district can have any kind of a school that the people in the district want and also that no school will raise above the standard given by the people of the community.

Prof. L. R. Alderman explained

the workings of the County High School Fund law in Lane and Linn counties where they have the law in force and where it is a success, he explained the advantages of such a law and also the influence it is having upon the educational conditions of those counties.

On Saturday at 10 a. m. the institute began at the public school building where the following program was given, many of the subjects being discussed by the different teachers present: "The Teacher and the Community," by Prof. J. C. Zinser, of the Ballston school; "Practical Manual Training," by Prof. F. C. Chute, of the Bethel school; "The Relation of the Home to the School," by Prof. J. E. Dunton, of the Falls City school; "The Relation of Punishment to the Formation of Character," by Prof. A. L. Clarke, of the Monmouth school; "The Ideal Teacher," by Prof. J. G. McIntosh, of the Independence school; Sup't. J. H. Ackerman gave an address on the Rating we Each Have; Mrs. Emily Banks, of Dayton, who has spent several years in the Congo country, was present with a large number of curios from that country and gave a talk on the conditions as they are in Congo, and explained the customs of the natives.

A vote of thanks and appreciation was passed by the teachers for the excellent luncheon given by the ladies of the Reading Club of Independence, to the visiting teachers, and all returned to their separate schools, having a kind word for the excellent courtesy shown to all visitors by the citizens and teachers of Independence.

Following are those teachers who were present: W. I. Ford, H. H. Parsons, Miss Etta Waters, Miss Maude Hart, Miss Edna Morrison, Miss Irene Abbott, Miss Vera Cosper, Miss Nola Coad, Mrs. F. H. Morrison, Miss Etta Phillips, of The Dalles school; Miss Addie Boydston, of Bridgeport; J. C. Zinser, Ballston; Miss Ethel Lewis, Salt Creek; Miss Mabel Ellis, Parkers; A. L. Clark, Miss Mildora Jackson, and Miss Anna Godberson, Monmouth; Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Chute, Bethel; J. R. Bidgood and Miss Allie Brammer, Rickreall; Miss Ethel Lucas, Elkins; A. J. Shipley, Antioch; Miss Marie Church, Miss Madge Groves, Buena Vista; Miss Stella Montgomery, Greenwood; Miss Ruth Wood, Sunnyslope; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dunton, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Mehrling, Falls City; Miss Anna Kurtz, Mistletoe; Miss Winnie Kelly, Pioneer; J. G. McIntosh, B. A. Teats, W. E. Buell, Misses Iva Burton, Inez Dennison, Lynda Eppley, June Seeley, Mary Scollard, Nora Sorenson, Mrs. Jessie Cromwell, Independence; Sup't. J. H. Ackerman, Salem; L. R. Alderman, Eugene; Sup't. H. C. Seymour and Mrs. H. C. Seymour, Dallas; Mrs. Emily Banks, Dayton.

MISS PARADINE DOUGHTY

We want your Jobwork

Saving His Mate.
On one occasion at a crowded performance at the Royal theater in Sydney, N. S. W., a number of years ago a couple of sailors who had been drinking were seated in the gallery. One lost his balance and fell into the stalls. The other immediately cried, "Man overboard!" and dived after his companion. With the proverbial luck of drunken sailors the first escaped with a broken leg and the second without a scratch.
