Local and Personal

H. Holland of Salem was in town Tuesday.

Abstracts promptly furnished at reasonable rates, by L. D. Brown, Dallas, Oregon.

You have tried the rest. Now try the best on Sunday chicken dinner at the Hotel Monmouth.

Prof. E. E. Arant of this city left Monday for Corvallis where he will attend summer school for some time during the summer.

Independence is attracting attention this week and many persons from Monmouth and vicinity, as well as elsewhere are attracted there.

Orvil White, son of J. W. White, will go to Dallas next Monday to finish learning the Bakers' trade, under the supervision of C. C. Mulkey.

Miss Della Kramer of Haywood, California, who is here on a visit to relatives is visiting Mrs. Mary Stine this week at her ranch on the Luckiamute.

Dr. F. R. Bowersox, assisted by Dr. L. C. Price operated on G. A. Peterson's little boy for adenoid growth in the throat. The operation was very successful and the child is getting along finely, not seeming to realize that he was operated upon.

W. H. Skinner, president of the Investment Company of Hermiston, Oregon, was a visitor in Monmouth this week having been on a tour of inspection of the Willamette Valley and stopped off to visit his friend and old acquaintance, Rev. W. W. Davis. Mr. Skinner is looking around with the object in view of locating near to some institution of learning where his children can finish their education.

Hardly a Surprise.

Monday was the anniversary of Mrs. J. M. MacDonald's birth and her husband thinking to surprise and give that lady a pleasant evening invited a number of friends to be present on Tuesday evening, on which occasion Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Hefley, J. L. Murdock and wife, Mesdames Treat and Smith and D. E. Stitt, wife and daughters, Blanche and Agnes.

After an hour spent in social conversation the good lady of the home invited her guests to the dining room where a bountiful supply of ice cream, cake and hot coffee was served, and then it came out why the surprise was off. Preparation went swimmingly until the ice cream arrived but when that commodity had arrived its proportions was too great and the surprise cord was snapped asunder.

However the refreshments were delicious, the association pleasant and the guests departed at a timely hour wishing their hostess many successive occasions of rejoicing, and that time might deal gently with her as the years roll by.

From the Rural Spirit.

J. B. Stump and son Darrell will be out at the fairs next fall with some of the fine stock kept at Fair Acres. They expect to show sheep—Lincolns and Cotswolds, Jersey cattle and Percheron horses.

John B. Stump, one of Oregon's pioneer breeders of Lincoln and Cotswold sheep and Angora goats, has named his breeding farm "Fair Acres." The name and not the farm is new, which is the same place he has been operating all these years, adjoining the town of Monmouth.

We attended church last Sunday evening as we are accustomed doing, but we must have made a mistake and gone into the devil's corner, for instead of one speaker we heard some three or four and while some only spoke in a whisper they did it to the extent that those near them were kept from following the discourse of the one who had the floor. There were others as well as the writer who were annoyed by the incessant chatter and who, no doubt, wished that these impromptu speakers would wait until they had the right to the floor. Persons who cannot behave themselves at places of public worship should stay at home and not advertise their conduct to the public.

Curtis E. Johnson visited his mother and sister at the Hotel Hampton Sunday a week ago. He visited the Rose Festival and came down from Portland. On his return to Moro he took his sister, Loraine, with him to Portland where she visited a few days returning home last Saturday.

Mrs. Ellis Lectures.

Mrs. Ellis' lecture Friday evening afforded some merriment to the young folks. It is to be hoped that no one will lose sight of the fact that she was mating types and not individuals, as in an audience of the size from which she had to choose, she could only approximate the type. If the young ladies follow her advice, given Monday evening, to remain single till twenty or twenty-two, they may have time to travel, and so meet many individuals of the type best suited to offset the irregularities of their own, so giving some latitude to the consideration of personal preference. Her remarks upon the subject of dress were very good, and her advice upon the proper way to stand and carry one's self so true, it will be well for all, young and old, to heed.

The merchants and business men are having main street oiled so as to keep the dust down. It is getting the best of the dust, but it does not add beauty or cleanliness to the street and sidewalks in its fresh state.
