A dispatch dated at Turner, June 27, says:—The twentieth anniversary of the Turner camp meeting of the Oregon Christian Missionary Convention was opened Saturday evening with the largest attendance of the history of the organization for the opening night. The number of delegates from all parts of the state to the meetings in the large tabernacle at Turner is larger than usual and the programme for the ten days is the most elaborate ever prepared for a like session.

Edawrd Tubbs, the man injured in the street car accident last Monday, who is now at St. Mary's hospital, is reported as recovering nicely, and is practically out of danger, with the possible exception of any bad results from the amputation of his left leg. When it is recalled that Mr. Tubbs sustained the fracture of both arms, one in two places, a dislocation of one shoulder, the fracture of his left leg, and had his front teeth knocked out and jaw badly cut, his present favorable condition is most remarkable. It was necessary to amputate his leg, and the shock of the various fractures, to say nothing of the operation, were sufficient to have killed an ordinary man. —Albany Herald.
