A Young Hunter Shot

George Wiley, the 17-year old son of J. M. Wiley, who lives on McDowell creek about 10 miles above here, accidentally shot his younger brother, Marvin, in the face and shoulders with a shotgun last Saturday. The boys were out hunting and discovered some birds in a thicket of brush. Marvin went around to scare out the birds for Geo. to shoot at and some flew up and Geo. fired at them, thinking Marvin was not in that direction. Thirteen shots penetrated the younger brother, one shot going within half an inch of his eye and one going entirely through one of his arms. Mr. and Mrs. Wiley were in Lebanon and did not know anything of the accident until the doctor overtook them at their yard gate as they were getting home. After the accident the boys' phoned to Roy Wiley in Lebanon and Roy Located Dr. Laird, who was in that neighborhood, and sent him to their home. The Dr. succeeded in extracting six of the shots and does not apprehend any serious results from the accident—Lebanon Express.

Zook, the paper hanger will do your painting.
