Fat And Lean Basket Ball

There was a fine game of basket ball last Saturday evening when the Corvallis H. S. team met the H. S. team of this place in the gymnasium here, before a crowd of some two hundred people, in which the Corvallis team met defeat by a score of 19 to 14 under the splendid coaching of manager A. H. Craven. Sixteen points were credited the Corvallis team but one basket was thrown over a dribble which does not count. This is said to be the largest attendance and the best game played in the home court for years, but the fun and style will be nothing compared to the mix-up when the Fats and Leans weigh in at the court on Wednesday, December 28, next Wednesday. Will Jones.

The line up of lean, lank players will show up with Geo. Sullivan, Sam Morrison, Dr. Matthis, R. Coulter and O. A. Wolverton.

As a matter of course this will be the game of the season but as a preliminary measure the 8th grade H. S. team of Independence and that of the 8th grade here will play off the tie existing evening.

The Fats will be represented by Frank Baker, P. H. Johnson, Dr. Bowersox, J. E. Winegar and ing as a result of each team having defeated the other.

Laugh and grow fat, is good advice, so come out and you will be sure to laugh to see the Leans and Fats tumble over each other in their scramble for victory.

The 8th grade teams will commence playing at 7:45 and 15 cents will entitle you to the whole show.

Polk County Draws More Prizes

The Oregon State Poultry show was held at Portland last week, and was the most successful that the association has ever held. Over 1000 of the best fowls in Oregon, Wash., B. Columbia and other states were on exhibition. The White Wyandottes, Barred Rocks and Rhode Island Reds, easily leading in quality and point of numbers on exhibition.

H. H. Collier, of Tacoma, and W. A. Coates, of Vancouver, B. C., judged the exhibits, awarding the prizes.

As usual Polk Co. was in on the winnings. L. C. Hoover, of Monmouth, winning the $20 Trophy cup given by the Portland business men for the best pen of Rhode Island Reds on exhibition. Also winning $10 in cash prizes. His winnings on six entries were as follows: First Pen, First, Second, and Fourth Pullet and Fourth Cockerel.

Since the above was in type Mr. Hoover has added still other prizes to his list. He sent one cockerel and four pullets to the poultry show at Eugene, Oregon, and the judges there awarded him first prize for pen; first prize on cockerel, and first, second, third and fourth on pullets. Six prizes taken by a group of five fowls is certainly a pretty good showing.
