Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Butler, of Condon, who have been visiting relatives here left Tuesday for their home.

Chas. W. Leonard having spent a portion of the holidays at Independence came home between two days and intimates that he is done with high life, so says our informant.

Oregon is a wonderful country for vegetation, and the power to produce is what goes to make a state a desirable place to have possessions. Two weeks ago W. H. Newman came into the Herald office and displayed a stock of wheat that had four feet growth and was headed out, the growth having been made since last August. This sample of Oregon production is on exhibition in the Western Reality Company's office.

Christmas Cheer

Christmas has chased on its annual round and scattered gifts with a beneficent hand bringing good cheer into many homes and leaving sunshine in the lives of both giver and recipient, and there are few persons indeed who have not been made happier in giving and receiving.

The Evangelical Sunday school, also the Baptist Sunday school, had their respective Christmas trees on Saturday evening and both were well attended and enjoyed by those attending. The programs were well presented.

The Christian Endeavor members arranged and rendered a very pleasing cantata in the Christian church Sunday evening which was followed by a reminiscence of the past as depicted by an aged lady's dream. The service was well attended and was appreciated by the audience.
