Joke Was On Dad

A recent dispatch from Topeka, Kansas, contains this interesting bit of news. A few days ago a farmer near Allen found a cigar in his small sons' pocket after they had returned from a town. The farmer confiscated the cigar and whipped the boy severely. The farmer lighted the cigar and started to smoke it himself. It was loaded and burned up the farmer's whiskers and his barn.

"There is no room for sadness when we see a cheery smile; it always has the same good look—it's never out of style. It nerves us on to try again when failure makes us blue, the dimples of encouragement are good for me and you; it pays a higher interest, for it is merely lent—it's worth a million dollars, doesn't cost a cent."—Canby Tribune.

That maid n fair from Chicago, Madeline Sullivan who insisted on marrying the Wyoming Indian, Plenty Hawk, was, it is alleged put off the reservation and has gone home. She still thinks she loves Plenty Hawk, but no doubt when she has had a few more thinks she will shake hands with herself and realize that she has had all of Plenty Hawk that she needs.—Ex.
