The Commercial Club met in the club rooms Monday evening to consider what could be done for the advancements of the city's welfare. Among things brought up was the depot proposition but as that question seems in a fair way of realization it was not discussed further.
The next proposition touched upon was better railroad connection which was discussed with a view to getting changes in time which will bring about the desired effect.
The subject of co-operating with the city council, in regard to getting water for the use of the city, was then taken up and discussed after which a motion prevailed to appoint a committee of two to act with a similar committee from the city council, such committee to visit Sció, Dayton and Independence to learn what they could of the water systems at those places and to learn the strength of flow and altitude of a spring East of Independence, to see if there is water enough there to supply Independence and Monmouth with a gravity system.
The members appointed upon this committee were, J. H. Hawley and B. F. Baker with W. R. Coulter as a supernumerary member, and the time set to make the investigation was July 2.
