WANTED—Apply at the chapel.
On Wednesday, the eve'ning of pray'r,
Of men, some twenty, and women,
To congregate earnestly there
And help in the service of singing,
To well up their anthems in song,
And pray to the God of Creation—
Come help me His praises prolong.

FROM WONDER-LAND

I wonder—
Who the young man is who wishes the girls to know he is on the market for leap-year.

If those two girls caught the Jack rabbit they were chasing through town one evening last week.

Who the young lady is who has become a member of the Monmouth Concert Band and helps carry the bass drum.

Who the young man is who trades candy for newspapers.

If foot ease is used as much in Winter as it is in Summer.

If the light suit that fell on Main street one day last week was much damaged.

If lemons, as presents, are appreciated.

What the attractions were, in Portland, for one of Monmouth's young ladies last Sunday, and in Salem for another.

Why that church bell tolled so long on Sunday night a week ago.
