Chinese Ostentation.
The ostentation of the rich Chinese is noticeable in their funeral obsequies. Even if by chance a man should desire an unpretentious burial the thought of such a thing would be abhorrent to his heirs, who would consider it a slight both to themselves and to their family gods. In consequence a rich man's funeral is made as gorgeous and costly as his means will allow. The number of pallbearers varies according to the status of the deceased. Thirty-two or even more are seen. "Spirit chairs," for the use of the dead Croesus in the future life, are borne in the procession, together with venerated objects intended for the propitiation of the gods.

CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN.

Bitter Ending of the One Love Affair of the Famous Actress.

Charlotte Cushman, the actress, was in love but once in her life. She met in Cincinnati, where she was playing, an actor named Clark, with whom she fell in love. Through her efforts Clark was advanced to leading man in the company, and the course of true love ran smoothly.

One night the actress met a strange woman behind the scenes between the acts.

The woman came up to her and addressed her thus:

"You are Charlotte Cushman, the great actress. Haven't you got enough men to admire you without coming between man and wife and robbing me of my husband?"

"Your husband!" cried Miss Cushman, getting excited.

"Yes, and you have taken or you are trying to take him from me," continued the ragged woman, looking Miss Cushman full in the face.

"Who is your husband?"

"Conrad Clark," replied the woman, "the father of this child," pointing to a half starved, thin little child in her arms.

Miss Cushman started as if she had been shot.

She went through her part that night—acted it splendidly, brought down the house; then, after the performance, she sent for Clark to come to her dressing room. Clark knocked and then opened the door. She brought forward to him his wife and baby, who had been waiting in the dressing room to receive him.

Such a reception! Charlotte Cushman never looked or acted so grandly on the stage in all her life as she did that night in her dressing room. She waved Clark away with a greater majesty than ever as Queen Catherine she waved away Cardinal Wolsey and then, going to her hotel, probably she had a good crying spell.

But she never loved again.—Exchange.
