Personal and Local

Zook the Painter, will hang your paper for you.

A. L. Miller, of Bellingham, Washington, was here last Saturday looking after land.

Claud Sloan, after spending several days visiting friends at Monmouth, returned to Newberg Monday.

P. T. Ross, of Montana, was here a few days visiting Miss Morrison, a lady friend whom he knew in Iowa.

J. M. MacDonald has two cows from which he sold $65 worth of milk last month, which is certainly a very good income from only two, but he informed a HERALD reporter that feed and care brought the results.

Prof. E. D. Ressler from the O. A. C. was in Monmouth Monday renewing former associations having lived here in the capacity of President of the State Normal School during its existence under the old arrangement.

H. A. Jackson, of Portland, spent a couple of days in Monmouth, repairing to the county seat on Tuesday, accompanied by Miss Millie Hurlburt; a marriage license was procured and the happy couple returned as husband and wife. They went to Lebanon, Oregon, Wednesday.

H. K. Sickafosse spent a week visiting at Hood River returning home the latter part of last week. While at Hood River he visited the Carrol apple orchard, represented as the best orchard in Oregon. It is about 14 years since it was planted and while the trees have spread out very extensively there are none of them more than fifteen feet or thereabouts in height, and are clean and well kept.

James H. Chapin Dead.

James Harrison Chapin who lived on the Murdock farm, South of the city died last Saturday night and was buried in the K. P. Cemetery on Monday.

The funeral took place at the home at 2:30 Monday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. W. A. Wood.

Mr. Chapin was a native of Illinois and was born in DeWitt county, Sept. 25, 1874. He came to Oregon in 1885, and settled in Yamhill county. He moved from Airlie to this place last October.

He leaves a wife and two boys, whose ages are 6 and 4 years.

Leg Broken.

Mrs. J. K. P. Carson who lives south of Monmouth had the misfortune to receive a fall, Thursday morning of last week, with the result that one bone of the right limb was broken about three inches above the ankle.

Dr. Matthis was called and adjusted the fracture and the lady is getting along as well as could be expected.

Held For Embezzlement.

Dan J. Sturbing is being held in the county jail to await the coming of an officer from Chicago to take him back to answer a charge of embezzlement while cashier of a firm there. Detectives have been closely on his trail ever since. He was arrested in Horst Brothers' hop yard last Saturday by Sheriff Grant and has confessed. —Dallas Observer.

NOTICE.

All persons owing the firm of Strickler & Murdock are requested to settle their accounts by Jan. 1 1912.

Yule-tide Booze.

The Independence Enterprise speaking of the busy appearance of our sister city and apparent prosperity ends its article as follows:

"The high prices received from products of the farm left money in the hands of everyone, and it was consequently a merry Christmas. Too merry, in fact, in a few instances. One man who loves booze better than the bible took on an over indulgence in the former and when he was ejected from one of the gin shops, put up a rough house. He was subsequently overtaken by Marshal Feagles and landed in the bastille to remain until his gladsome Yule-tide was over."

"Before the officer had disposed of his prisoner a disturbance occurred in front of Conkley, Walker & Lehman's store between a couple of men employed at Horst Brother's hop ranch. One of the pugilistically inclined men was of middle age and the other a mere boy in appearance, but a real man in ability. When the first mentioned proceeded to offer abuse upon the young man he was suddenly knocked down, and as he attempted to continue the abuse after restoring his perpendicular position, he was again put down, and counted down in the last round. Marshal Travis interrupted the performance at this time and started off with the pair, but as the old man resisted he released the lad and proceeded with the lone drunk. The boy improved the opportunity to get safely away, which he did before the officer could get back to the scene of the excitement. Aside from these affrays the peace and dignity of the city was preserved."
