HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The basket ball game played Friday, January 5, was the most interesting High School event of the last week. The Monmouth boys showed great skill and excellent training winning by a score of 25 to 10. The game was a good clean one on both sides, and was enlivened by many rousing yells.

Those who will enter the debates are Emma Parker, Ruby Lorence, affirmative; Bessie Wade and Giles French, negative.

The sewing class was started last Friday under the supervision of Miss Jackson. Much interest was shown and it is believed this is a necessary part of every girl's education.

The social committee of the students body has passed the rule that there shall be no social functions participated in by the High School except on Friday and Saturday nights. The four classes are represented in this committee and all seemed heartily in favor of the rule.

The students enjoyed very much the hour spent at the college chapel Tuesday afternoon, listening to the music of the Victrola. They appreciate Miss Harlan's kindness in extending the invitation to them.

The Young People's Alliance of the Evangelical church met Friday evening, January 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald for their business meeting.

The new committees were appointed and the new officers who were elected last month took upon themselves their respective duties. One new member was added to the Alliance at this meeting.

The members who were present show that there is a great interest in the society and it is hoped that this year will be especially successful.

After a profitable and enjoyable evening—a part of which were the delightful refreshments, all departed for their separate homes looking forward anxiously to the time of the next meeting.

Smallpox Scare is Over.

Corvallis—"The rumor that Corvallis might be quarantined on account of smallpox is nothing but ridiculous gossip," said Dr. H. S. Pernot, city health officer. "We have not had 30 cases altogether, and they were carefully quarantined and every caution taken against the spread of the disease. The main means of contagion was the city public schools." People coming to the college for the short course would be running no more risk of exposure than they would if they stayed at home.
