A PARTIZAN'S TRAIT.

During the week we read in one of our exchanges an article captioned, "A Press Agent Feat," which suggested the above heading with its accompanied comment.

It is, perhaps, true that there are individuals who always have their ears attuned to catch the ripple of public sentiment, while others, play to the galleries for notoriety, yet, there is another class whose members are acute, zealous and jealous, and who watch just as intently to belittle, pull down and destroy the object of their envy, as does the lover of notoriety watch for a chance to secure free advertising.

This class is of a partizan nature, and its devotees are always on the alert for political opponents, and whenever they find one that gives promise of becoming a public favorite and a useful member to society, but not of their political faith, their spume is sent out like that east off from the devil fish, with its clouding qualities, for the express purpose of prejudicing the public against such person.

These character killers are not confined to any one political party, but you will find them in all parties, in fraternal institutions and in churches as well as in institutions, hardly affiliated with those mentioned. They are always the same and invariably fail to mention the good traits of an opponent, nor to enumerate some of his bad ones, and being intent to ply their purpose, often guess at the motives of the person against whom their poisoned darts are hurled, giving out as a reason something entirely foreign to the purpose of the person thus misjudged.

The spirit of strife is moving forward at a smart pace and pacific conditions obtain only in one locality to be disrupted in some other. Strife exists between nations; between the government and trusts; between political organizations, and factions in such organizations. Democrats are having their differences and Republicans likewise, and in the scramble to secure the Kentucky delegation for their respected candidates the Roosevelt manager charges that President Taft will be a thief if he does not repudiate the effort certain federal officials have made to capture the delegates of that state. So the world moves along. Did you hear someone say it is getting morally better?

PEACE IN ENGLAND.

Coal miners are going back to work; industrial peace is restored in England and an ugly crisis has been averted. English common sense has said that the labor problem in that country is one of which the Government must take active and practical cognizance, and English common sense has triumphed. The Government has taken cognizance of the problem, not in theory alone, but in practice; the element of compromise and arbitration has stepped in, and a bitter and disastrous industrial warfare has been avoided.

England might, without doubt, have taken this same course at a much earlier date with the saving of a vast amount of money and a great deal of trouble to the people as composed of both employers and employes. We understand, of course, that the thought had not been ripened to that consummation, but with all that, wisdom pointed in that direction and might have been availed with profit to all concerned.

But England is not alone to be considered. We have labor troubles this side the Atlantic, and we keep on having them periodically and regularly. The questions at issue in our case are largely the questions at issue in the English case. Is the remedy the same and can it be applied in the same way and upon the same principle?

It would seem at least, that the English situation teaches us that the developments of the graver aspects of labor troubles is only a question of time and of industrial progress in the country, and that we cannot go on indefinitely treating labor difficulties in haphazard fashion. We must begin sooner or later to regard the labor question as not solely affecting the employer and the employed, but the country at large, and that it is therefore a matter of National import to be treated in a National way. It is worth the while of economists and statesmen to study the labor conditions in England and in this country with this thought in mind.

For Superintendent.

To the Republican voters, Polk County Oregon:

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination for the office of School Superintendent of Polk county, Oregon, for a Second Term, subject to the will of the Republican voters at the nominating primary, April 19, 1912.

I wish to say that when a candidate for my first term as School Superintendent. I promised that I would give my best work for the schools of the county. I have spent my entire time in working for the betterment of the schools and ask a nomination on the record I have made. If nominated and elected for a second term, I will follow the same policy as in the past and will give my best work for the schools of the county.

Respectfully,
H. C. SEYMOUR.

TYPEWRITER GIVEN AWAY

The Emerson Typewriter Company of Woodstock, Ill., have recently given away over 400 of the highest grade, wholly visible Emerson Typewriters in the world. They have gone into every state and territory in the United States. There may be some in your town. They are giving them away everywhere to men, women, boys and girls, over 18 years of age, on surprisingly liberal conditions.

If you could make use of a $100.00 typewriter, providing it did not cost you even one cent, then in a letter or on a post card addressed to Frank L. Wilder, President, Woodstock, Ill., simply say, "Mail me all your Free Offers," and by return mail you will receive their Free Offers, the names of over 400 who have recently received typewriters free, and you will learn on what easy conditions you can get one of their typewriters right away.

The Emerson Typewriter is one of the highest grade, wholly visible typewriters made in the world. Many who have used the "EMERSON" and other makes pronounce the "EMERSON" superior to any $100.00 typewriter on the market. It is a wholly visible machine, has every new, up-to-date feature, looks like other high grade $100.00 typewriters, though it sells regularly for less and on terms of $1.00 down and 10 cents a day until paid for. The "EMERSON" has every new improvement, universal keyboard, back spacer, tabulator, two-color ribbon, everything the best; is the ideal machine for beginners as well as for the most expert typists and stenographers; just the typewriter for the smallest or largest office.

If you could possibly make any use of a high grade typewriter, even though it didn't cost you one cent of money, then be sure, on a postal card or in a letter addressed to "Frank L. Wilder, President, Woodstock, Ill.," say, "Mail me your Free Offers."

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS.

Notice is hereby given that at a regular meeting of the common council of the city of Monmouth, Oregon, to be held at the council chambers of said city, on the 23rd day of April, 1912, at the hour of 8, P. M. thereof, the said city will sell 40 negotiable coupon bonds of said city of the principal amount of $20,000.00, in the aggregate, as authorized by ordinance No. 142 of said city, entitled "A Bill for an Ordinance No. 142, An ordinance authorizing the issuance, disposal and sale of bonds of the city of Monmouth, Oregon, for the purpose of raising funds for the construction of water works within and without said city for the benefit and use of said city under and by virtue of the authority vested in said city of Monmouth by an amendment to the charter of said city and known therein as Article II, which said amendment was duly adopted by a majority of the votes cast thereon at a special city election held in said city on the 5th day of June, 1911, for such purpose, and by proclamation of the mayor dated June 7th, 1911, declared to be in full force and effect as an amendment to said city charter as Article II thereof; declaring an immediate emergency to exist and excepting this ordinance from the effect of the referendum," passed by the common council of said city on the 25th day of July, 1911; approved by the mayor of said city on the 26th day of July, 1911.

Said bonds are in denominations of $500.00 each, payable twenty-five years from the 1st day of September, 1911, (with the privilege optional with the common council of said city, of paying said bonds or any of them at any time after the 1st day of August, 1921), and bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum until paid, payable semi-annually from September 1st, 1911; principal and interest payable at the Fiscal Agency of the State of Oregon, in the City of New York, State of New York, in Gold Coin, without costs, charge or expense to the purchaser or holder of said bonds.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder or bidders therefor, but that said bonds will not be sold for less than their face value. But no proposal will be considered unless accompanied by a certified check of 5 per cent of the amount bid, said check to be drawn upon some solvent bank, subject to forfeiture to the city if said bid be accepted, and the bidder shall fail to comply with the terms of his bid.

The said common council reserves the right to accept bids for any part of said issue less than the whole thereof, if bids for a part only of such bonds are received, and also reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Common Council,
D. E. STITT,
Recorder of the City of Monmouth,
Oregon.
