

THE WILL MAKES THE WAY

By John G. Saxe.

It was a noble Roman,
In Rome's imperial day,
Who heard a coward croker,
Before the castle, say:
"They're safe in such a fortress—
There is no way to shake it!"
"On! on!" exclaimed the hero,
"I'll find a way or make it!"

Is fame your aspiration?
Her path is steep and high!
In vain he seeks her temple,
Content to gaze and sigh!
The shining throne is waiting,
But he alone can take it,
Who says with Roman firmness,
"I'll find a way, or make it!"

Is learning your ambition?
There is a royal road;
Alike, the peer and peasant
Must climb to her abode.
Who feels the thirst of knowledge,
In Helicon may slake it.
If he has the Roman will
To find a way or make it.

Are riches worth the getting?
They must be bravely sought—
With wishing and with fretting
The boon can not be bought.
To all the prize is open,
But he can only take it
Who says with Roman courage,
"I'll find a way, or make it."

By H. F. JONES.

"Best Easter services yet" was the verdict of some of the older members.

A prominent worker, Mr. Cady, president of our Endeavor Society, has gone to Falls City to teach. We will miss him.

Keep your eye on the boys. Something interesting is going to happen Saturday morning, and if you are not watchful, your boy will be into it.

It is an offense to live so as not to be missed. What will your neighbors think when you are gone?

Girls' Day was a big success. The girls gave us an excellent program.

Every fellow has his day. Next Sunday is boys' day. The boys of the school will have charge of the opening exercises, and furnish a brief program.

Be one of the boys next Sunday.

The baptistry was in use last Sunday. Will be used again next Sunday evening.

The choir was surprised last week by Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Burkhead. Refreshments were served and a pleasant hour spent in the new basement room.

There is no use in talking if your actions and utterances don't track.

10 o'clock is Bible School hour. A goodly number fail to get counted because they are like the last car of a slow freight.

Sunday is a day of worship. What do you pay homage to? Some bow down to the bed; others to a shot gun and dog. Some have set up the fishing rod; others the automobile. There are many who say: "As for me and my house we will serve Jehovah." Come with us Sunday morning. Communion and sermon at 11 o'clock.

Go to church some place next Sunday. If you have no church home, we invite you to all of our services. Christian Endeavor at 7 o'clock. Evening service at 8 o'clock.

Important Hog Bulletin

One of the best recent bulletins of the United States Department of Agriculture is No. 68, issued under the date of February 25th, 1914.

This Bulletin is by Byron Hunter, Agriculturist for the Department of Farm Management, and is intended to encourage hog raisers in the Pacific Northwest, especially in the States of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. The title is "Pasture and Grain Crops for Hogs in the Pacific Northwest." This Bulletin should be on the desk of every farmer in this section of the country and is to be had free by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture. The summary of the Bulletin follows:

"During recent years the hog industry in the Pacific Northwest has been inadequate to supply the local demands for pork and pork products. This has caused the average price of pork to be relatively high and has made it necessary to ship a large percentage of the hogs slaughtered and bacon consumed from east of the Rocky Mountains.

"It is possible to provide pasture for hogs in most of this region throughout much of the year. In most localities it is also possible to provide crops that may be hogged off during several months of the busy season. The crops generally used for this purpose are wheat, field peas, corn and barley. By supplementing well managed pasture with the proper grain rations and utilizing the ability of the hog to harvest grain crops for himself, the average cost of producing pork may be materially reduced. These conditions offer an opportunity for profitable pork production in the Pacific Northwest on a much larger scale than at present practiced."

Meat Consumption Per Capita Less in America Than in Australia and Argentina.

The only countries reported as having a greater per capita consumption of dressed meat than the United States are the Australian Commonwealth and Argentina. These, it is well known, are countries of sparse population and vast herds and flocks; hence meat is exceedingly cheap and the native consumption large and probably wasteful.

The per capita consumption of meat for Australia and Argentina is estimated to be in the neighborhood of 250 pounds per annum; it may possibly be even greater. The corresponding consumption for the United States was computed by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry to be 172 pounds in 1909, and it is estimated to be about 10 pounds less at the present time. This is much greater than the British consumption, the largest in Europe, which is slightly under 120 pounds per inhabitant per annum.

Saving Time.

"Say," exclaimed the excited young man with the discolored optics, "I want you to strike me off a few thousand cards."
"All right, sir," responded the printer. "What shall I put on them?"
"Just print 'None of your business' in big type. Then when the next person asks me how I got this black eye I can just hand him a card and save words."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Promoting the Janitor.
They were joint owners of an apartment house and one day the junior partner sought his colleague in some trepidation.
"The janitor wants $10 more a month or he'll leave. I hate to give up the money, but we can't spare him."
The senior partner disappeared and returned in a few moments.
"It's all right," said he, "I've satisfied him, and it didn't cost us anything."
"How's that?"
"The janitor is now the superintendent."
"Good work!" declared the junior partner. "But why didn't you make him superintendent in the first place?"
"Because," answered the senior member, "I knew he'd want a promotion eventually. Every man wants a promotion some time and, to my mind, a good man deserves one."—Judge.
