WINEGAR & LORENCE

Monmouth, - - - - - Oregon

Local and Personal

Room and Board at the Maples or light housekeeping rooms furnished.

C. W. Leonard of Independence was looking after his Monmouth interests last Saturday.

Miss Pearl Davidson returned from her visit to her father at Murphy, Oregon, Monday evening.

C. H. Parker has plowed up and made a track for the Fourth of July races on the Davidson lot opposite the postoffice.

This has been a good week for curing hay and haying has been going on lively in the surrounding country.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Smith made an auto trip through the Waldo Hills a few days ago visiting old scenes.

Richard Thompson has purchased concessions for supplying fresh drinks, etc., for the dance at the high school gymnasium, Saturday night.

Mrs. M. Cornelius and little daughter, Helen, left for Oklahoma, last Monday, where they will visit Mrs. Cornelius' mother. They will return in about six weeks.

The Celebration Committee requests that auto owners, and those attending in buggies and carriages decorate their vehicles and enter the parade, July 4th. All are invited.

One of the pleasing features of the exercises at the Celebration will be 400 Normal students singing to an accompaniment by the Polk County Band. Two selections will be given in this manner by the students.

Polk County Does Things

The people of Polk county are showing the people of Marion county some things in the way of improved roads that are worth noticing. The road between Dallas and Monmouth and Independence has been oiled all the way, and the road from Independence to West Salem is oiled as far as the Brunk farm, where it meets the Salem-Rickreall road. Perhaps there are others. It is planned to continue the oiling of the Independence-West Salem road clear to the latter place; to the West end of the bridge across the Willamette at Salem. This will make the roads thus treated much smoother for travel, and it will make them dustless, a consideration of great comfort to the traveling public, and especially so to the farmers and others living along or near them. For the residents along or near the roads, it will make all the difference between comfort and cleanliness and rank discomfort and dirt and disease germs. A hard surfaced highway would be better and cheaper, in the long run, than an oiled road; but an oiled road is far and away ahead of a streak of dust misnamed a road.—Statesman.

Three Cars of Juice

Mr. Pugh of Falls City, manufacturer of loganberry juice, is buying all the berries available in this neighborhood at three cents per pound. He has just received an order from San Francisco parties for three carloads of loganberry juice, and will hurry shipments. Last year Mr. Pugh sold one carload to the same parties. They found a ready market for the beverage, and came back this season with a much larger order, with a prospect of following it with others. Additional machinery was recently put in at the Pugh plant.

Among those who sold their crop to the Falls City man are Mr. Weaver, who has two acres planted to loganberries on the Nute Harris place, and Mr. Siefert, who has something less than an acre. Other smaller yards are also sending their berries to Mr. Pugh.—Dallas Observer.

Exhibit Material

Portland, Or., June 27, 1914.
Dear Sir:

In order to estimate regarding exhibit material that Oregon may be able to supply this year to Eastern Land Shows, Eastern State Fairs, traveling exhibit cars, etc., we must ascertain what communities will be represented.

Every community should be represented with at least a few specimens. All possible publicity and credit will be given the grower and county with no expense other than the cost of supplying the material. Transportation here and to the exhibit points will be handled by this office.

May we not have a letter from you immediately stating that you will co-operate?

Yours cordially,

C. C. CHAPMAN,
Oregon State Immigration Agent.
