After almost a quarter of a century of silence and languor it seemed a difficult task to arouse the patriotic blood of Monmouth and vicinity, but thanks to the Ladies Civic Club, the work was done and well done to the extent that energy was supplied, and Monmouth had the time of her existence. The parade was one to be proud of, and the Summer Students are entitled to, and have the sincere thanks of the citizens of Monmouth for the hearty spirit in which they entered into the task and labored to achieve success.
