

LOCAL AND STATE NEWS

Howard Morlan and Cal Holem attended the "Nat Goodwin" attraction in Salem Wednesday night.

C. Lorence and wife and Miss Frances Quisenberry autoed to Corvallis yesterday and will return today.

George F. Shew passed through town Wednesday with a large load of tiling. We did not learn his destination.

The city council lacked a quorum Tuesday evening and adjournment was taken until seven o'clock this evening.

Harry Stine came home from St. Helens where he has been for some time past. He will spend the winter in California.

The Woman's Social Hour Club will meet at Luther Ground's residence Wednesday, November 4, at the usual hour. A full attendance is desired.

J. L. Murdock returned from a week's visit at the farm at Yamhill last Sunday and Frank Murdock and family left on Tuesday for Yamhill. Frank's health improved very much while here.

Mrs. Fred Olsen returned from Brownsville last Saturday, having shipped her household goods which arrived about the same time, so that the family are now permanent residents of Monmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ostien and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. V. Butler were Salem visitors Tuesday evening and again on Wednesday evening when they autoed over to attend the theater, "Nat Goodwin" being the attraction.

George T. Boothby and M. Lewis have contracted with Riddell & Sons to deliver to them 100 head of cattle. Riddell & Sons have about 250 tons of clover hay that they wish to dispose of by feeding it to stock this winter.

E. T. Hinkle and R. J. Taylor of Independence were shaking hands with the voters in this place Wednesday. Mr. Hinkle is aspiring to the office of Justice of the Peace and Mr. Taylor wishes to be Constable of this district.

Saturday night is Halloween, the night when saints are supposed to be moving about, but our observation has been that the crowds that mostly move around the neighborhood that night can hardly be classed as saints, as their works do not justify that conclusion.

Clement B. Janes and wife arrived here last Friday evening from near The Dalles where Mr. Janes has been at work for some time, and are stopping with Mrs. Jane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Zook. They purpose to stay in this vicinity this winter providing Mr. Janes can find work.

The business men were taking turns, the latter part of last week, in tiling the street and leveling up dirt which had been hauled to the hitching rack on Broad street. They purpose to have the dirt covered with gravel so that the farmers will have a good place to tie their horses when they come to town.

The practice of hitching horses to the telegraph, telephone and electric light poles should be discontinued. There is danger of getting a horse shocked, and it is shocking when a lady gets her clothes all splashed over with muddy water. The store fronts and windows get a full benefit and that makes extra work for store-keepers.
