Donations to University

U. of O., Eugene, August 2. — The University Library has received as a gift from Mrs. Clara B. Colby, of Washington, D. C., a shipment of ninety-five books and a number of pamphlets. The gift includes publications of the woman movement, temperance and other reform movements, biography, history, travel, poetry and miscellaneous literature. One item of special importance is 16 volumes of the "Woman's Tribune," published in Washington, D. C.

Another donation to the University has been received by the Department of Journalism from Mrs. T. W. Davenport, mother of Homer Davenport, who was an Oregon boy and was brought up at Silverton. Mrs. Davenport desired to have preserved in the rooms of the Department one of the few remaining originals she had of Homer's cartoons, and she selected his "World-wide Struggle for Money." She had this framed and sent it to the Department by express from her present home in Los Angeles.

The Department of Journalism is also in receipt of several small donations of printing materials in addition to the complete old fashioned newspaper plant entrusted to the Department by Hon. H. R. Kincaid, for nearly forty years editor of the Oregon State Journal.

In the last year small gifts of various kinds have been made to the University in considerable numbers.

Increase in Indiana Oil Production

The petroleum output of Indiana in 1914 showed an increase for the first time since 1904, final returns to the United States Geological Survey crediting the State with 1,335,456 barrels, representing an increase of nearly 40 per cent over the output in 1913. This increase may be attributed chiefly to the pools in Sullivan county, in the southwestern portion of the state, which supported an active development throughout the year.

The average price per barrel received for the Indiana product declined from $1.34 in 1913 to $1.16 in 1914 but was higher than for any previous year except 1913 in the history of the State's petroleum industry. The total value of the State's production in 1914 amounted to $1,548,042, exceeding that of any previous year since 1910.

Field activity in Indiana in 1914 resulted in the completion of 742 wells, of which 470, or 63 per cent, yielded oil in commercial quantities.
