Safe Blown At Falls City

Some time last Thursday night the safe in the store of N. Selig, at Falls City was blown open by yegmen, and about $35 in cash and several hundred dollars in notes were secured. It was a good job, evidently the work of experts. Nitro-glycerine, commonly called "soup," had been poured around the cracks of the door and touched off. The safe was completely wrecked. Sheriff Orr was called and investigated, but could find no clues except a ball of soap used in their work by the cracksmen and a pocket electric search light, left behind. Later it was learned that a gasoline speeder had been stolen from the section house in this city and evidently used by the yegs in going from this city and back. The speeder was found by the side of the track about a half mile out of town Friday forenoon.

Mr. Selig has been a particular object of robbers, having been visited by them five times since being in business in Falls City. Only last fall an attempt was made to blow his safe, but it was unsuccessful.—Itemizer.
