Back from Grand Lodge

H. K. Sickafoose returned Saturday from his visit to the grand lodge sessions of the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows in Roseburg last week and reports interesting sessions of both organizations but with no startling event in either in the way of new regulations or legislation. During the session Mr. Sickafoose realized his ambition of the past few years when he secured an office in the grand lodge. He was appointed grand herald. As the custom is to advance officers this appointment is apt to lead to progressive honors.

Henry S. Westbrook of Portland who will be remembered as the speaker in Monmouth at the time of the anniversary meeting, was chosen grand master of the state Odd Fellows for the coming year. Past Master John W. hall of Marshfield who was succeeded, was chosen as representative the sovereign grand lodge. Delegates from Monmouth who attended the Rebekah grand lodge which convened at Roseburg during the same week were Mesdames J. L. Murdock, and Ed. Rogers, and Miss Alice Butler.
