Endeavor at 7 p. m. Mid-week service Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. Continued from page 1 then—that is, most every time. If things were not hushed up pretty quickly the Scoutmaster was around with his "Boys" in a stern voice. We knew what that meant and generally quieted down for we knew that a personal reprimand came next and if there was anything we all disliked it was to be called down by the Scoutmaster. Another interesting feature of the hike was the night watches. Each scout had to watch a period of 45 minutes. We had to keep the council fire burning and to watch that our Senior Patrol Leader did not walk in his sleep or that the Scoutmaster did not snore too loud. Sometimes a creaking of the bushes or a big drop of dew sent cold shivers down our backs but nevertheless we all enjoyed our watch. We just happened to go in the right time for berries. We found berries of all kinds and nearly everyday we would pick a large bucket of huckleberries or blackberries and bring them to camp to have our Scoutmaster make us a big pie. Whew! How good those pies did taste. Continued next week
