They keep the boys in the marines busy acquiring physical perfection as is evidenced by the following from Joe Clark:

"At 6 a. m. the first call is sounded and 6:15 the second call when we are supposed to be in the ranks and to answer roll call. After that we go to the parade ground for 15 minutes physical exercise. We have breakfast and at 8 o'clock is our first regular drill period. That lasts until 9:15, when we have inspection of clothes or quarters. At 10 we have calisthenics and we get a good work out in that. It loosens up every muscle in the body and strengthens the heart, the lungs, etc. It is pretty hard at the beginning, but doesn't take long before we are used to it. This lasts until 11 and then we have nothing more until 1:30, when we have our regular drill till 3:30."

It is a world of lean years, says the New York Times. Its food lies in this year's crop. The reserves will be exhausted at the end of the crop year. The outlook is not too rosy. The English wheat crop is reported backward, the Dutch small. French wheat will yield less than usual. Argentina will have little wheat or corn to export. The Australian wheat crop is estimated at nearly 50,000,000 bushels less than last year's. Our big winter wheat states have not had moisture enough. Early vegetables in the southern states have been nipped by frost. So the shortage goes.

Food prices are high already. This careless, easy going America must remember the aut and prepare for next winter. One thing nearly all of us outside the cities, and many urbans, can do. That is to raise all we can of the common vegetables, so easy to raise, thriving almost everywhere, so large a part of our food. We can't import them. We must grow them; and they should be grown in quantities unheard of before, grown by the rich—and the more they sell the better—by the poor, by the great mass that is neither. Beans, onions, peas, potatoes and the rest, these should be the crop of everybody with land enough to bend over in.

Selectmen, town committees, town trustees and councillors, spy out the vacant cultivable land and see that it is tickled with the plow. Commuters, who farm for exercise and pleasure, or say you do, this is the spring when you need to farm for business. More ground for garden this year; and garden for vegetables, not for ornament.
