Wm. G. Campbell who came to Oregon in 1853 and was a member of the Oregon volunteers during the Civil war, died at his home in Dallas Tuesday. He died on his seventy fifth birthday just as his fellow G. A. R. brothers were preparing to visit him by way of observing the anniversary. He was born near Springfield Ill., was a member of the Christian church and is survived by nine children.

O. A. Wolverton and W. J. Miller went to Amity Tuesday and brought back 1100 pounds of honey, the product of a colony of bees which they are renting there. These gentlemen have recently purchased 55 queens in San Jose, Calif., and are renewing their local aviary and placing the bees in new and modern hives. Foul brood had obtained a hold in the old hives and it was necessary to give them new homes. The new queens are the Golden Italians and are docile and good workers.

ODD TRICK OF A BADGER.

The Animal is Able to Turn Almost Around in its Hide.

It appears that the pelt of an adult badger is extremely thick and difficult for a biting adversary to penetrate, and so loosely does the skin cover the body that the animal is, so to speak, able to turn around in its hide.

Should a dog acquire a hold on the throat the badger turns himself so that the dog's grip is on the back of the badger's neck, without having loosened his first hold. Then the badger secures a viselike grip upon some vulnerable portion of his enemy, and while his long tusks penetrate to the limit he digs and scratches with his front feet, that are furnished with claws almost as formidable and deadly as might be expected from an anteater of the dark continent.

He who has removed the pelt of a badger and is at all observing does not wonder at this animal being sharp bitten and that he is able to hang with bulldog tenacity when the formation and adjustment of its claws are noted. Neither is it much of a mystery how he manages to bore through the soil so rapidly that half a dozen men with shovels cannot overtake him, for he is a mass of cords and muscles, particularly in the neck, chest and shoulders, very similar in physical construction to the ground mole.

The badger toes inward sharply when traveling and always on the walk, twisting here and there very much like the movements of a skunk, while if it be in winter he makes a business of hunting buried dormant woodchucks.

He is a fur bearer of rather coarse quality, and there is a great range of value in the pelts taken, all the way from 10 cents to $2 or more, depending upon the length of the coat. A badger is chiefly valuable when it has a long coat, so that the guard hairs can be plucked and used to make shaving brushes.—Los Angeles Times.

GOOD FRIDAY.

BE hushed, my heart, remembering
What dole was given for thee.
How pressed on him thy burden when,
For all the sinful sons of men,
Christ went to Calvary.

THE mournful journey that he made,
Each step was taken for thee.
Be hushed, my heart, let clamor cease;
Prepare a chamber white with peace,
His resting place to be.

IN solemn shadow of the cross,
O soul, abide till he
Who tasted death ere thou shouldst know
Its bitterness of utmost woe
With strength shall guard on thee.

ITS Via Dolorosa still
Each life of earth must see,
And in some hour, or soon or late,
Must bend beneath the crushing weight
Of earth's Gethsemane

BUT, heart, in love and prayer look up
Beyond the awesome tree:
The heaven of heavens is left today;
All angels march the starry way
That leads from Calvary.

FOR conquering the lord of life
(His mighty legions free)
Goes forward while the ages roll;
The price of every ransomed soul
Full paid on Calvary.

"OVER THERE"

The Thrill and Heil of the Trenches Described by an American Boy

We have secured a series of six articles by Sergeant Alexander McClintock of Lexington, Ky., and the Canadian army. He has a gripping tale that every American will read, for he tells the facts, unadorned. Wounded, a Distinguished Conduct medal man, he was invalided home, but is going "Over There" again to fight for Uncle Sam and his allies.

Feb. 14, 1917.

Sergeant Alexander McClintock served in the Eighty-seventh Battalion Canadian Grenadier guards from September, 1915, until November, 1916, the last four months of that time at the front in France, where he gained the Distinguished Conduct medal by his devotion to duty and bravery under fire.

As his former commanding officer I can testify as to his good qualities, and I consider he would make a valuable officer.

(Signed) F. S. MEIGHEN,
Brigadier General, Commanding Canadian Training Division, Bramshott.

NO. 1.—In Training. How the men are finally brought to the firing line. A description of conditions that our own boys and their parents will read eagerly.

NO. 2.—The Bomb Raid. The great preparations and rehearsing for this attack. Volunteers for the job taken behind the line where the German trenches are exactly reproduced. The days of preparation. Heretofore unwritten detail of modern trench raids. This article concludes with the men going out to their job.

NO. 3.—"Over the Top and Give 'em Hell." The English Tommy's battle cry as he breaks from his trench. The bomb raid and what happened. Of sixty that started forty-six failed to return because the Germans had prepared and mined the trench. Graphic description of Sergeant McClintock's terrible experience.

NO. 4.—Shifted to the Somme. Sergeant McClintock takes part in the greatest of all battles and tells of the hell of it. "The front in Belgium was really a rest sector in comparison with it," he says. The extensive preparations of the allies for open warfare afterward abandoned because of the failure of expected developments.

NO. 5.—Wounded in Action. This article describes the terrible fight, the dead and dying, the loss of a pal and the final falling of McClintock in No Man's Land. Simply told, it is one of the most remarkable descriptions of a battle by a participant ever put together.

NO. 6.—Decorated For Bravery; Home and Uncle Sam. This concluding article of the series relates in detail how England cares for the wounded. How the king and queen came to the bed of an American boy and decorated him in a London hospital for gallantry. Interesting, intimate and amusing incidents told by and of the wounded Tommies. Trying to fight for Uncle Sam.

We will print one article each week for six weeks. Watch for the first installment.
