Wall Street Jokes.

A lad of about sixteen years after wandering up and down Broadway for a block either side of Wall street stopped before a policeman standing at the junction of those two thoroughfares and inquired where he could find the firm of "I. C. Graves." "What's the number?" the patrolman asked. "One hundred and one Broadway," the boy replied, "and I don't see any such building around here." "No, and you wouldn't if you looked a month," returned the officer. "That is the number of Trinity church and the graveyard, and, furthermore, I guess you are new on the job, for that is the pet joke all Wall street houses play on their new runners." As the boy disappeared a man who had overheard the conversation said to the officer, "When I first began work in this district I was sent down to a 'round building at the Battery' to see if I could find a 'Mr. Fish.' It seems that the customs here haven't changed much in the last twenty years."—New York Tribune.

The hostess gave a recipe for a conservation cake made without sugar, and passed sample cakes which all pronounced delicious.

Normal Societies

The Delphian Society held its meeting on Friday evening, Dec. 7th. The program was of a Christmas character and expressed well the holiday spirit and the Christmas customs.

In the joint program the Delphians were represented by Miss Blackerby who gave the humorous reading, "The Oreg-legged Goose" and by Miss Reuter who pleased her audience with a most charming whistling solo.

After adjourning to the assembly the Delphians held their business meeting, followed by their Christmas program. The first number was a Holly drill, by eight girls, directed by Miss Lansberv. This was followed by a short play, "Christmas Eve at Mother Hubbard's", directed by Miss Gillman. The characters, all representing personages in "Mother Goose Rhymes" were most splendidly taken. Simple Simon fairly convulsed his audience with his drawling tones and simple ways. Each character seemed to enter in to the spirit of his part and surely made the little play most fascinating. The vested Choir, directed by Miss Morris, closed the program with their Christmas hymns. The critic's report was given by Miss Hawes.

The regular meeting of the Vespertine society was preceded by the joint program on which they were represented by Miss Nell Beans who played "Ala Bi Aimee", the opening number, in a highly finished style, and by Miss Jessie Smith, whose rendition of two favorite songs met with instant approval.

The election of Miss Elizabeth Griffin as secretary and Miss Helen Judge, reporter, occupied the first part of the Vespertine meeting. Later Miss Olive Whipple entertained with a piano solo and Mr. Gilmore sang a group of songs which everyone enjoyed. Miss Helen Galbreath told a charming story.

A Christmas play, "The Revolt of the Holidays" concluded the program. Under the able direc-

MONMOUTH HIGHWAYS

Vol. II Monmouth, Ore., Friday, Dec. 14, 1917 No. 9

Written, Edited and Set in Type by Students of Monmouth High School

A game of basket ball was played between the girls teams of the Amity and Monmouth high schools. The Amity girls arrived in cars, about six o'clock, and were shown the field of battle.

The game was called at eight o'clock, before one of the most enthusiastic audiences ever assembled in the gym.

The game was played in thirds and at the first third Monmouth had a score of six to one.

In the second third, the basket balls were changed and Amity was allowed to use their own basket ball. This rather turned the tide in favor of Amity, for at the end of the second third the score stood six to seven in favor of Amity.

tion of Miss Madeline Logan, this fantasy proved a decided success. Credit should be given Miss Loraine Mahoney for her aid with the musical features. As a whole the program was well fitted to be the first given in the new Chapel.

Another Drive

The Christmas Red Cross membership campaign will be launched at noon December 17 and will last until the night of December 24.

This campaign s to add 240,000 members in Oregon to the American Red Cross.

A membership costs as little as $1. In fact, in this campaign the greatest emphasis is placed on the $1 membership, because it is believed this will be responsible for enlisting the greatest number of people under the Red Cross banner. The drive is not for money, but for members.

In brief the effort of every county in the state is to enlist 30 percent of its population under the Red Cross. Irrespective of whether members have joined previously or not, they will be asked to join again in the Christmas Drive, with the assurance that there will be but one drive a year in the future and that the week preceeding Christmas. Thus "Make it a Red Cross Christmas" is resounding over the country. Special church services will be held December 16.

"Every man and woman in Oregon must join the Red Cross" is the Oregon Slogan.

Prominent men and women all over the state are enlisting their services in the campaign. Membership funds are devoted to war work of the Red Cross a percentage accruing to the local chapter which is expended on surgical, hospital supplies and other requirements for the war work of the chapter.

Social Hour Club

The Social Hour Club met with Mrs. O. Butler and Mrs. Gentle at the latter's home, December 5. Red Cross Sewing furnished employment for all present.

At the business meeting the president, Miss Smith, brought up the question of a Community Christmas Tree, as proposed by Miss Parrott and others. All members were reminded that books and late magazines are being accepted at the Book Store for the Soldier's Library.

A clever guessing contest, arranged by the hostesses; furnished much amusement. Miss Kramer received the prize for most complete list of answers, and Mrs. Ackerman accepted gracefully the consolation prize. Some splendid Grafonola records concluded a well spent afternoon. Club will meet with the Misses Maggie and Allie Butler, December 19.

Last Monday evening a number of Mrs. J. O. Matthis friends surprised her with a shower party. The gifts were many and appropriate. Light refreshments were served. All report a pleasant time.
