

The Monmouth Herald

Vol. X

Monmouth, Polk County, Oregon, Friday, April 19, 1918

No. 33

Monmouth is Located in the Best Section of the Best Valley of the Best State in the Union.

"JUNIOR DAY" IS EVENT OF WEEK

Unique Program is Presented Miss Arnold Gives Fine Talk

Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, Dean of Simmons College, who has been lent to the government for important war work, addressed a large audience in the Normal Auditorium last Thursday at 4 o'clock. Miss Arnold in her most inspiring talk showed the absolute moral necessity of food conservation. She declared that what we ate was no longer a mere personal matter, but a matter of moment for the world since America must practically feed the world. With her charming manner, her fund of humor, and her splendid grasp of the fundamentals of conservation which lie deeper than recipe and substitutes, Miss Arnold completely won her audience who felt deeply the firm necessity of helping in every possible way to win this righteous war. The Oregon Normal School was indeed honored to have secured Miss Arnold for an address since her reputation as a speaker is nation wide and her services in great demand.

Friday was gala day at the Oregon Normal from very early in the morning until late at night. Gala day and Junior Day. The Juniors made their first appearance in early morning serenades which delighted the faculty. At chapel time there was seemingly no sign of the glorious band but to the strains of "Smile on With Nineteen Nineteen", the class song composed by Mr. Carl Moore, curtains were drawn in the balcony and the marguerite crowned Juniors sang delightfully from their vantage point. A processional and a clever airplane song which was the official invitation to sojourn in France for the afternoon's performance completed the morning's program. There was some lively Senior and Junior cheering not formally programmed which was most enjoyable.

The afternoon proved a rare treat with its delightfully presented play of "Pierrot et Pierrette"—a charming old French story in which Miss Beekman as Pierrot and Miss Sain as Pierrette were real stars and interpreted the familiar story most appealingly; its motion pictures of modern France its quaint old songs redolent of early France; its "Petit Poilu" of puppet fame and such like real pleasures. Owing to the lateness of the hour at the conclusion of the first part of the program, the pageant of "France the Stronghold of Civilization" was postponed until Saturday night. The closing event of the afternoon was the procession to the gymnasium headed by the costumed Juniors. There the spirit of "Madri Gras" held full sway—gay crowds spent French money for the clever little paper "Junior Day" Souvenir, wandered through the art gallery, and laughed in high glee at the various character sketches of the faculty done in pantomime and costume. The student body dance in the evening was a fitting climax to a strenuously delightful day. The fluttering streamers of green and white, the French banners and signs still indicated that the Juniors reigned supreme but happily shared their reign with generous spirit. Inspiring music, attractive decorations, and a number of guests made the dance one to be chronicled among the best of the year.

Saturday evening the pageant with some repetitions was presented. The Episodes were each well thought out and the whole displayed marked talent in conception and presentation. The particular titles follow:

6. Pageant—Historical et Patriotique "France—the Stronghold of Civilization"

Episode I. 5th Century—Civilization vs Barbarism—The forces of Attila, the Hun, routed by the Franks—Conversion of Franks to Christianity

Episode II. 8th Century—The Cross vs the Crescent—In days of Chivalry

Episode III. Rise of the Guilds

Episode IV. Birth of the French Republic—19th Century France—The patron of the Arts and Sciences of Civilization

Episode V. 20th Century—Echo of the Huns—Old World plus New shall triumph for Civilization

"Here We Are, La Fayette"

7. Epilogue—The Dawn of Tomorrow—A Symbolic Dance

8. Finale—Chorus and Procession
Captain Tooze, formerly of Dallas, now stationed at Camp Lewis, was an entertaining speaker at this meeting. His address was stirringly patriotic in tone and elicited much applause.

Junior Day had an added pleasure in being the date for Miss Carson's chapel talk. Miss Carson presented the pupils of the Elkins school in their school song, and an Indian club drill which was liked so well by the audience that the Elkins pupils graciously gave it all again even better than the first time. A number of the patrons of the Elkins school were guests of the Normal for the day.

Concert Company Coming

The date for the Ernest Gamble Concert Party has been changed to Monday April 22. The Gamble Concert Party is always a delight to music lovers of Monmouth in its repeated visits. Each time it adds new friends to its already large circle. With a program of music arranged to suit every taste and with a company which boasts three stars—Mr. Gamble, the wonderful bass soloist, whose numbers are always delightfully satisfying; Miss Page, the violinist, who charms everyone by her sympathetic playing; and Miss Kuhn, whose ability and interest as an accompanist and piano soloist round out the company—there is little more to be desired for an evening of real pleasure. The tickets may be purchased for fifty cents at Morlan's Book Store from Friday afternoon until Monday. Everyone in Monmouth who likes to hear good music well interpreted should plan to hear the Gamble Party and join its group of Monmouth friends.

Joan of Arc in Pictures

April 20, Saturday night is the date for the widely celebrated motion picture "Joan, the Woman" in which the great opera star, Geraldine Farrar plays the title role. Miss Farrar is supported by a number of noted film stars who success-

Continued on page 4

PURE FOOD AND WORK OF WAR

Capt. Tooze and J. D. Mickel Address Grangers Saturday

The Grange mixed patriotism and pure food in equal proportions at its program last Saturday afternoon, the same being its regular monthly meeting. State Dairy and Food Commissioner Mickel and Walter Tooze did the heavy parts although Miss Edna Mills of McMinnville also spoke briefly on domestic conservation, charging that although much effort was being applied to this end of "winning the war" that more was necessary and stated that it might be necessary to demand that, before the next crop was available, the use of wheat in food production in Oregon be entirely suspended.

Mr. Mickel spoke on food adulteration with a whole table of articles and samples before him referring to them from time to time. He explained the meaning of adulteration, how it might be the addition of a part or the taking away of a part or it might be that the natural article itself through its deficiencies, might be deemed an adulteration. His talk referred to the use of dyes in coloring food products as in canned goods, of laxness in selection as in neglecting to observe the distinction between glue and gelatine, of substitution of an artificial for a natural product as in the extracts. He also paid his respects to booze put up in the shape of patent medicines. His talk was listened to closely by all.

Walter L. Tooze, captain of the 92nd infantry, who has been in Polk county for the past week talking for the benefit of Liberty Bond sales, gave some observations and experiences. He told of the taking of his company which was one of four out of the first six hundred men who came in with the draft.

"Draft" he said was a misnomer. The men were "Selected" and wanted to be considered such. He found them all anxious and willing to serve and out of two companies drilled had less than a dozen who served unwillingly. He described the characteristics of the men of two squads as typical of the rest, the men ranging from millionaires to hoboes and coming from all walks and occupations on the coast.

He took up some of the stories which are told of deficiencies in the army many of which he said were for the purpose of destroying confidence. It was said that huge wagon loads of waste food were carted away daily from the training camp. This he said was untrue. The army had its wheatless, sweetless, meatless, eatless and sleepless days the same as in civil life. Each table had an officer whose duty it was to see that the men ate the portions which they took upon their plates and said there was absolutely no waste. Of course, in the feeding of 50,000 men such as were located at Camp Lewis, there is bound to be quantities of potato parings and other similar refuse, but the details of conservation were much more stringent there than in the average home in civil life. Stories relative to speculation in Red Cross work he also said were untrue.

He took a shot at the profiteer, the man who was patriotic at a large monetary advantage and said the government should select and discipline men for ship building as well as for any other of the activities of war.

The grangers listened to Mr. Tooze with much interest and cheered his remarks on numerous occasions. No pies nor cakes were served at the Grange dinner. Instead a larger collection than usual was taken and as a result $4.62 was donated to Red Cross work.

Death of Mrs. C. H. Gwin

Closely following upon the death of Mrs. Coleman Thursday noon came the announcement of the death of another Monmouth matron, Mrs. C. H. Gwin, who died in the Dallas hospital Thursday evening. Her death followed an attack of ether pneumonia, caused by the use of that anesthetic in the course of dentistry. Mrs. Gwin was a daughter of E. D. Mason, a former resident of Monmouth, but recently of Sunburst, Montana. It took some time to reach the latter by telegraph as he was in the mountains, and for this reason the funeral has been postponed to Sunday, April 21, at 2:30 P. M., when services will be held in the Christian church.

Mrs. Gwin was born at Lake View, Wash., January 11, 1879. She has lived in the vicinity of Monmouth for twenty three years. She was married to Mr. Gwin in 1898. They had no children. Beside her husband and father Mrs. Gwin is survived by two brothers and two sisters. They are Ralph Mason and Mrs. I. J. Holland of Montana W. L. and Miss Ina Mason of Monmouth.

Names of Drafted

The following names have been selected in the last draft list for Polk county: Ben Pollan and C. B. Ground, Monmouth; Dale Gotfried, Geo. Otte, Archie Pollock, Chris Ritter and Dennie Wood of Falls City; Edwin Larsen, Suver; Floyd Worden, Rikreall; Wm. H. Tice, Millwood, Wash.; Fred Barnum, Portland; L. L. Scott, and Harlin Powell Airlie; Roscoe Talbott, Grand Ronde; Henry Hickart, Summit; M. Hartless, W. L. Krinon, G. C. Davis, Pete Pappas, Elma Matheney of Dallas; Gustave Bhehm, Portland; J. W. Quincy, Astoria.

Wills-Miller Case Tried

The case of the Wills Estate against W. J. Miller for title to the property on the corner of Broad and Clay streets which has been hanging fire for some time past was tried before Judge Belt in Dallas Thursday. Messrs. Hayter and Swope appeared for the defense and Shields and Martin of Salem appeared for the plaintiff. The complaint was largely on insufficient identification of ownership of the property prior to its sale by the city. Ira Powell, D. M. Hampton, W. J. Miller and R. B. Swenson attended as witnesses. The case was tried without a jury and the opposing attorneys were given forty days in which to file briefs before final judgment is rendered.

L. J. Simpson In Monmouth

The genial personality of L. J. Simpson was in evidence on the streets of Monmouth Thursday and

AIRLIE DISTRICT IS LIBERAL

List of Bond Signers in Territory South of Monmouth

The following list of Liberty Bond holders was obtained by the solicitors in Airlie and the country south of Monmouth: J. M. Garmire, Fred C. Ritner, Virgil J. Love, F. W. Brandt, T. O. Bevens, Fred Johnson, Sarah Ritner, Frank Sheythe, Ted McKensie, Henry J. Powell, Wm. Staats, J. McBee, T. J. Sullivan, T. H. Sullivan, Chas. and Rittie Kerber, Wm. Williams, Walter Filibiak, R. J. Boyce, A. R. Nendel, G. Uchiyama, Mary Tubandt, Winiford Tubandt, Frank Tubandt, Franz Tubandt, Geo. B. Williamson, Thos. Smith, Chas. Powell, F. B. Williamson, C. E. Dodson, Wm. Boyer, J. F. Wienert, J. H. Morvee, C. E. Staats, J. F. Ulrich, W. E. Williams, C. E. Hanan, Lewis Miller, W. B. Whittington, L. C. Caughey, Wm. Ridgeway, Henry Nendel, W. E. Williams Jr., Thos. Gross, F. E. Smith, Leroy Byerley, Alice Quint, Sara Jackson, W. Bose, E. D. Bose, R. M. Fowle, Geo. Bronson, Lawrence Miller, Erle Brown, Otto Fleishmann, A. C. Guyer, Henry Yost, Samuel Burk, Mary L. Link, S. W. Gibbons, Homer Link, Geo. Rhodes, Wm. Kruger, Claude Hoisington, Chas. Osborn, Eugene Osborn, L. H. George, E. D. George, Wm. Hoisington, E. D. Hoisington, Harry Blodgett, C. Embree, J. A. Hannum, Jule Hannum, Emma Womer, A. Womer, Christian Gross, S. S. Parker, J. McGee, Mrs. B. Smith, Z. A. French, J. F. Folsom, I. M. Simpson, A. E. Webber, E. Davis, E. W. Staats, J. L. Lewis, D. N. Turner, Wm. Toedtemeier, Rex Womer, R. Tarter, H. Whiteaker, Louis Toedtemeier, Isom Baird, Jerry Kan, Bearne Tartar, Anna Kan, Frank Kan, John Kan, K. L. Williams, G. A. Conn, C. S. Whiteaker, Loren Cooper, Asa Staats, Percy Hadley, W. H. Williams, C. V. Johnson, F. M. Waters, Henry Parker, R. A. Hastings, B. H. Parker, W. Norton, Nancy Norton, E. Gwalchmai, Mary Leveck, Wm. Burns, Tilman Crook, Grove Peterson, Robert Steele, H. W. Jones, E. E. DeArmond, James Thurston, John Johnson, M. I. Conger, Chas. Voss, Thos. Boynton, C. J. DeArmond, Vern Williams, L. I. Brown, Chas. Kerber, T. Ver Mason, Conrad Yost, A. Clairmont, Fred Robertson, Emmett Mason, Lymen Macfield, Orlando Burbank, Joseph Edminston, Kimber Brown, Archie Kerber, Mr. and Mrs. Lefe Edwards, M. and E. Coulter, John Turner, J. L. Chamberlain, M. H. Acheson, S. A. McSheery, Jasper Bagley, Mrs. B. F. Smith, John Wienert, Donald Siddell, F. R. Kinderman, A. L. Nyman, Chas. O. Dickason, W. H. Dickason, F. A. Simpson. A further list of Bond subscribers from Monmouth and vicinity will be printed next week.

the Herald acknowledges a visit. Mr. Simpson is making a thorough canvass of the state and he has the faculty of making friends easily. He is apt to get a good vote in Polk county.