"Mother's Day" in France

Someplace in France, "Mothers' Day" May 12, 1918, My Dearest Mother: This is a day dedicated to you, this is my Mother's letter from her boy in the service of his Country. How nice and pleasant and sacred are my thoughts of you this day and every day, no matter where I am or what I am doing you, dear mother can't forget me. Mother dear, it is you upon whom the burdens, sorrows and cares of war fall, but rest assured that the cause of it all is what our Nation believes sacred and upright. That the terrible sword of the Hun shall not cast its power upon the helpless of our blessed Country as it has upon those who were weak and helpless here.

Don't worry about me, mother, your teachings, your training, your care and love and your reverence of those things which come to us all from God has left an impression upon my life that influences or time can not erase. And rest assured that at all times, amidst all dangers and circumstances I shall be a man, with the help of God.

At evening when the shades of dusk begin to enveil the beauty of the day I long to lie alone on my crude bed and ponder o'er the past, thinking of you all. How in the days of childhood and when I became a man I came to you for counsel. And the great day when I made the decision that my Country needed me and you clasped me in your tender arms and with tears flowing down your cheeks in streams I kissed you farewell. How could one forget such a moment and all its meanings. And again to think of some of the little sorrows and griefs which we bore together and the joys and gladness of home. Tears not of sorrow or grief but of love and joy fills my soul today because I am thinking of you above all things. I am in the best of health at present and trust you are all the same. "Oh spacious days of glory and of grieving!"

Oh sounding hours of lustre and of loss!

Let us be glad we lived, still believing

That God who gave the cannon gave the cross.

Let us be sure among these seething passions,

The lusts of blood and hate our souls abhor;

The Power that Order out of Chaos fashions

Smites fiercest in the wrath red forge of war—

Have faith! Fight on! Amid the battle-hell

Love triumphs, Freedom beckons, all is well."—Robert W. Service

A little chew of Gravelly helps the Observation Officer through many a hard hour.

He Will Welcome a pouch of Real GRAVELLY Chewing Plug

Any gift from the folks back home means a lot to the boy.

When you send him tobacco, let it be good tobacco—tobacco worth sending all that long way—the flat, compressed plug of Real Gravelly.

Give any man a chew of Real Gravelly Plug, and he will tell you that's the kind to send. Send the best!

Ordinary plug is false economy. It costs less per week to chew Real Gravelly, because a small chew of it lasts a long while.

If you smoke a pipe, slice Gravelly with your knife and add a little to your smoking tobacco. It will give flavor—improve your smoke.

SEND YOUR FRIEND IN THE U. S. SERVICE A POUCH OF GRAVELLY

Dealers all around here carry it in 10c pouches. A 3c stamp will put it into his hands in any Training Camp or Seaport of the U. S. A. Even "over there" a 3c stamp will take it to him.
