Local Brevities

Mr. and Mrs. Chas Newman got an early morning start Sunday and spent the day visiting with relatives in Portland. They made the trip in their Studebaker.

Miss Read and her mother let for Dallas Tuesday where they will visit with friends and from there Mrs. Read will go to her new home in Seattle and Miss Read to Portland to finish her studies for Commercial work.

D. M. Hampton brought up some roasting ears this week from his ranch in the eastern part of the city and after judicial inspection and subjection to the most thorough tests, we submit that the same will stand comparison with the product of any land or clime. They are worthy of the blue ribbon.

Mrs. W. W. Miller and children, who have spent the summer vacation with relatives on a farm near Corvallis are back again for the winter in the Kurre house east of Morlan's.

Mrs. Irene Taylor returned to her home in Portland this week after a six weeks visit at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. O. A. Wolverton.

Miss Lelo Wolverton started Wednesday for Walla Walla where she will teach during the coming year. She taught last year in Ashland.

Milton Force spent Sunday with relatives in Monmouth.

Willie Harvey and Burton Bell returned home Tuesday morning from Astoria, where they have been employed in the Fish Packing Association during the fishing season.

Miss Neta Harvey, who has been working all summer at her aunt's in Corvallis, came home last Wednesday, on account of her mother's illness. She returned Tuesday to her work, where she expects to stay until Normal starts.

Mrs. J. F. McClellan and children took a trip to Portland Sunday to visit relatives, going in the truck. They returned Monday evening.

J. M. Hamilton and son Guy of Longmont, Col., who were visitors at the Grand Army doings in Portland came up to Monmouth at its conclusion to pay a visit to their former neighbor, J. F. McClellan.

The finest meeting ever, is the verdict of D. M. Hampton relative to the encampment of the G. A. R. held in Portland last week. Mr. Hampton met a number of veterans who were acquaintances of war time and some whom he had not seen for fifty years. One of these was a former school mate.

Monmouth Heights

L. D. Hamar was on the Luckiamute on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Hazel Fishback and Miss Ina Fishback were guests of Jess Johnson and family at Elkins Tuesday.

Mrs. Roy Clark of Independence and Miss Millie Clark of Monmouth were on the Heights one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hurner and daughter Lizzie of Carlton were over Saturday night visitors at the Fishback home.

Grandma Sevier and daughter Mrs. Clarence McCaleb are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mack of Monmouth.

Robert and V. A. Fishback are digging a well on the former's place north of Monmouth.

George Bennett of Independence and Will Mack of Monmouth were out to the latter's ranch Thursday.

Milt Bosley is building a new porch on to his residence.

Tom Strain and son Walter hauled wood from the Herman Wunder place last week.

Mrs. Herman Wunder returned home from Grass Valley last Saturday after several days with her daughter Mrs. Minnie Cannay.

George Swearingen and Dick Ogle hauled straw last week.

Miss Margaret Jean Riddell of Monmouth is visiting her aunt Miss Mabel Riddell.

Chas. Shipley is assisting R. M. Bosley with the porch on his house.

Len Fishback was a Sunday guest of his sister, Mrs. Lettie Johnson at Elkins.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holman and daughter Marjorie were shopping in Monmouth Monday.

Grange Picnic at Rickreall

The Grangers took to the woods Sunday, choosing the Rickreall picnic grounds as the site of the fore-gathering. Young and old, the assemblage numbered fifty and to say that an enjoyable time for all was had, is putting it mildly. Several visitors were present from Lewisville and Oak Grove. The usual Grange dinner at noon while strictly Hooverized did not lack any of its attractiveness thereby and included home grown tomatoes and watermelons as well as the regular fruits of the season; not to mention home grown chicken and coffee heated over a woodland fire.

An unusually good program was presented in the afternoon, mainly impromptu. After the singing of America, E. R. Ostrom started things in motion with a clever medley, so good that he was encored and as a second choice delighted the crowd with a plantation melody explaining how the earth was manufactured; Mrs. Hoag delivered two excellent readings, both warmly applauded. L. I. Bursell exhibited talent in a reading on the subject of selling the farm, and promptly came back with a song on the subject of licking the Kaiser. Mrs. Ernest Riddell sang a patriotic song and was promptly persuaded to sing another. J. F. Ulrich of Lewisville, responding to a call, launched into a patriotic talk concerning the seriousness of the war and the necessity of putting forth every effort to win. L. P. Gilmore also volunteered a few words along the line of war efforts. Miss Alice Butler responded to a call and gave two readings which were warmly applauded and P. O. Powell completed the program with vocal solos, both exceedingly well rendered.

The small boys of the party had spent the afternoon in the waters of the Rickreall and when the program was ended their elders followed suit, finding the stony surface of the bars an almost impassible barrier for bare feet to reach the water. But the latter once gained proved as wet and attractive as it was in more youthful days.
