A WORLD REBUILT

By the Golden Rule
not by the rule of Gold

THIRTY denominations of the Church are uniting in a simultaneous campaign in the week of April 25th-May 2nd.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

These churches know that the world needs many things; but it needs Faith most of all.

They know that there can be no final solution of our economic problems that is not a spiritual solution, based on the teachings of Jesus Christ and His Golden Rule.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sustain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

The budget is large in the aggregate; yet each person who loves America would increase his contribution by only a few dollars the whole amount would be easily subscribed.

We face the task of rebuilding the world. Let the cornerstone be a strong and vital church in every American community; and the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.

Monmouth Meditations

The enterprising pea is finding this weather very much to its liking.

It is an unhappy fact that in order to dance the fiddler must receive recompense.

Germany resembles a democracy in that its chancellor does not wear a full dress suit.

We hope some one was conveniently close, to hand the smelling salts to the Los Angeles Times when Johnson's victory in Michigan was announced.

The French are taking [Frankfort] as a gentle hint that they think in the matter of peace promises, the guileful Fritz is a prevaricator.

It is said the first thing the allies will do with Constantinople is to give it a sewer system. It should be of proportions ample to dispose of the Turks.

Now that Hoover friend is a regular candidate it is up to him to bestir himself if he makes a proper impression in the great handicap event.

It is odd that Dentist Davis who pulled the kaisers teeth has not declared himself a candidate for president.

We surmise that Johnson's Detroit victory will serve the purpose of wakening up the nation. From now on we may look for some real political events.

Occasional alarming reports appear about damage to the fruit crop, still with plenty of candidates this summer there will be ample opportunities for canning.

Why is it a person who would never think of asking a dealer for a free cigar or a grocer for a pound of sugar gratis, will ask a newspaper to publish advertising puffs without any thought of paying.

We wonder if the success of Hiram Johnson is a tribute to that gentleman's acknowledged forensic powers or does it indicate a general sympathy with his views that we want no league of nations.

Governor Lowden says he longs to get back to the farm. Every man feels that way after he has made a few purchases in the way of groceries.

Portland is developing along substantial lines and Salem is gaining industries that will add to its wealth and importance. For successful agriculture we must have successful cities for these supply the market that makes prices that make farming a business instead of an occupation.

It is given as a fact that twenty million dollars worth of gold more than the amount mined, was used in the arts, for jewelry and similar purposes during the past year in this country. This year the excess amount will be forty million dollars worth of gold. The production of gold has fallen off steadily for the past four years because through excessive costs it has not paid to operate the mines. This fact is threatening the stocks of yellow metal in the form of money, now largely used to correct international trade balances. To improve the situation which now threatens our monetary system it is proposed to put a premium on gold production and an excise tax on gold used in arts. The government will levy the tax and pay the premium, which at present is proposed at 10 cents per ounce of gold. This discloses a strange situation and an apparent violation of the law of supply and demand. Gold, an article in quantity much less than the demand is, yet so cheap in price that it does not pay to mine it.

"Not much in the paper" says one man, laying down the daily. So accustomed have we become to war and strife and crime that the dailies are hard put and drag the sensations of the police court to the front page to try and supply our jaded appetites. We will have to try now and cultivate a taste for the more modest and less demonstrative news of peace. The efforts of the great army of industry and society to rebuild and restore civilization is a most fascinating study.

To any one who has watched the comment on the millage bill as it has come up in the newspapers must notice that comment on the Normal is uniformly favorable. The Normal is doing a good work and with its supply of teachers is supplying a need that is keenly felt over the state. But irrespective of its merits, it appears to us that a feeling of local pride should induce Monmouth people to give the millage bill a unanimous support on election day. The Normal is a part of us and we help ourselves by helping it. We fail to see how any citizen of this city can excuse himself if he opposes the millage bill.

"Prohibition makes America our most formidable competitor" says a British banker. Americans may be wasteful and extravagant but the fact that they don't have to foot John Bull's booze bill will in spite of our economic habits make us winners. The so called moral element in our population is inclined to take too much credit for the dry nation. For years the railroads have forbidden alcoholic drinks to their employees. It is a long time since any one could hold an important job and at the same time indulge in periodical drunks. The commercial world has realized that the drink habit interfered with business and has frowned upon it. With a boozy Britain pitted against a boozeless America there can be only one answer. It is an answer that will be so plain that the whole world will realize that as a matter of business sense it can not afford to waste its wealth and energy on booze.

Satisfied Servants are always found in Electrified Homes

Investigation proves that much of the so called "servant problem" is due to unfavorable working conditions. The more drudgery you eliminate from your kitchen and laundry the easier it will be for you to avoid "trouble with the help."

Do you know that electricity will

Cook the food      Sharpen the knives      Wash the dishes
Polish silverware      Wash the clothes      Iron the clothes
Clean the house      Pump the water      Run the fans and do many other things at surprisingly little cost?

Let us show you how to keep servants by lightening your house work.
