

OUR NEXT PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT

Warren G. Harding

Calvin Coolidge

The Next President Asks You To Vote For Bob Standfield

"All who are earnestly desirous that the Republican party shall take control of national affairs, to the end that we may restore the health of the Republic and insure the good of the country, will wish, as I wish, that the voters of Oregon may find it their best judgment to support Robert N. Standfield for United States Senator."

WARREN G. HARDING

The next Vice President makes the same request

"The success of the Republican ticket in Oregon is earnestly to be desired. More than that, my own desire to preside over a Republican Senate leads me to hope for and recommend the election of R. N. Standfield to represent your great state in that honorable body."

CALVIN COOLIDGE

"Young Teddy" urges Oregon to send a Republican Senator

ROOSEVELT

"Heartily endorse candidacy of Robert N. Standfield for Senate. Apart from the fact that a Republican majority in the Senate is of vital importance just now, he is the type of man all the voters of Oregon should be proud to have represent them."

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Taft urges that you vote for Standfield

"Election of Harding is assured, but he can do little unless he has a local Republican majority in the Senate and the House. I earnestly urge all who vote for Harding to vote for Standfield."

WILLIAM H. TAFT

Hughes believes in Standfield

"I cordially endorse the candidacy of Robert N. Standfield for United States Senate. In addition to Mr. Standfield's qualifications for that office, it is of very great importance that there should be a Republican majority in the Senate to support a Republican President and make possible an efficient and successful administration. I sincerely trust that the people of Oregon will not fail to elect Mr. Standfield."

CHARLES E. HUGHES

Don't Waste Your Vote Trying to Send a Democrat to Washington to Support a Republican President

Vote the Republican ticket straight

REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

Thos. H. Tongue, Chairman

640 Morgan Building
Portland, Ore.

Paid Advertisement

R. N. Standfield.

ANTI-COMPULSORY VACCINATION MEASURE

At the election, November 2, the voters of Oregon must decide on a question of the most vital importance to the health of this state. On the ballot there will be—Number 313—a bill, entitled, "Anti-Compulsory vaccination amendment."

While this proposed measure purports, upon its face, to be a bill designed to prevent so-called undue compulsory activities on the part of health officers as at present constituted, its provisions are declared by competent legal advisers absolutely to tie the hands of these health officers, so that, in case of an epidemic of disease of any kind—no matter how serious to a community—no stringent measures could be lawfully taken to protect the people.

Officials of the cities and counties and even the Governor, would be stopped from compelling vaccination or inoculation in the gravest of epidemics, should this bill become the law of Oregon, it is held by lawyers of the highest standing.

All of the progressive work of the State Board of Health and any association of people organized for the purpose of disease prevention would be rendered helpless under the provisions of this proposed law, for even the curbing of venereal diseases, now being so successfully carried on for the general public welfare, would be ruined.

All of the experience of ages, gathered at terrible cost to human life—all efforts at preventable objective would be annulled, if this proposed measure should become the law of the state. While purporting to go only to the extent of accomplishing the prevention of compulsory vaccination, its language would prohibit the enforcement of measures long known to be necessary in the protection of the people.

The best authorities on health legislation and the best legal talent of the state are agreed that, should this measure receive a majority vote of the people, the result would be ruinous to public health.

A GRAVE HEALTH MENACE

Whatever view one may take upon the straight question of vaccination, it would seem, after careful perusal of the so-called "Anti-Compulsory Vaccination Amendment," on the ballot for November 2, that it should be defeated by an overwhelming majority because of its iniquitous over-reaching provisions, cloaked under a misleading title.

Competent authorities, both legal and medical, who have gone into this bill, declare it to be all-inclusive as to its effect, if adopted by the voters, on the subject of prevention of diseases, no matter of what nature. That it robs the authorities, duly constituted, of power to act, even in an epidemic emergency, is the declaration of men and women who have given it the most careful scrutiny.

Read carefully the following excerpt from this bill and determine for yourself what it means:

"No form of vaccination, inoculation or other medication shall be made a condition in this state for admission to or attendance in any public school, college, university or other educational institution; or for the employment of any person in any capacity or for the exercise of any right, the performance of any duty or the enjoyment of any privilege."

Under the provisions thus stated, if the English language means anything, compulsory vaccination, even in the gravest emergency, would be prohibited in the case of typhoid, paratyphoid, rabies, tetanus (lock-jaw), bubonic plague, whooping-cough, and any other disease, including the most dangerous and loathsome venereal disorders.

In short, it would absolutely render powerless the hands of the authorities in every city and county of Oregon, if it became a law.

A worse calamity could scarcely be conceived.

This more or less innocent-appearing title is No. 313 on the ballot, labeled "Anti-Vaccination Amendment." Vote it NO in capital letters.

All of the armies and navies of the world have found vaccination and inoculation of untold value in saving life, but the framers of the misnamed "Anti-Compulsory Vaccination Amendment," to be voted upon at the election November 2, discount all of that experience and testimony.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley Says "Vote 313 No"

Speaking before the Members' Forum of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Wiley, formerly head of the Government's pure food bureau and known as the "Father of the Pure Food Laws," declared that the title of the bill was a misnomer and that it should be called "a bill for the increase in mortality in children."

"Never before have I been in a community where matters pertaining to public health have been taken out of the hands of experts and put to a vote before the people," declared Dr. Wiley. "I do not think that a parent in this state who has children of school age will vote for this measure, because it means that the school children will not be protected against contagious diseases."

OREGON NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Principal Events of the Week Briefly Sketched for Information of Our Readers.

A girls' band will be organized this year at the Albany high school.

The eighth annual dairy and hog show opened in Hermiston Friday.

Lumber mills at Cottage Grove complain because of inability to obtain cars.

The Clatsop county agricultural fair closed a successful three-day session at Astoria.

The Eugene excelsior factory has been closed on account of the slump in the market.

North Bend will put on an exposition of Oregon-made goods the latter part of October.

Students of Willamette university are discussing the organization of a varsity brass band.

Approximately 130,000 motor vehicle drivers' licenses have been issued by the secretary of state.

Oregon has 50,168 farms in 1920, as against 45,502 in 1910, a gain of 4666 farms, or 10.3 per cent.

Salmon trolling on Yaquina bay is the best in years, trollers near Yaquina making big catches daily.

Apple growers in Douglas county are having trouble in getting enough apple pickers to gather the crop.

The Clatskanie hatchery has received from the hatchery on the McKenzie river 1,604,148 spring chinook eggs.

Mining activity in Josephine county is being resumed and it is expected that during the winter many new properties will become producers.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Boardman farm bureau, the organization of the North Morrow County Fair association was completed.

Construction work on the Sparta irrigation canal in Baker county has been suspended for the remainder of the year because of lack of funds.

Chris P. Christensen of Donald died at the Johnson creek ranger station, 30 miles out in the mountains from Roseburg, while on a hunting trip.

The Bend Commercial club is to be reorganized early in November, with a paid secretary. An effort will be made to increase the membership to 300.

Seven rural school districts including and surrounding the town of Mapleton in the western part of Lane county have started a movement for a union high school to be located at Mapleton.

J. P. Keyes, pioneer central Oregon lumberman, vice-president of the Brooks-Seaton Lumber company and general manager of the company's local plant, died at Bend of heart disease.

If plans under consideration by The Dalles chamber of commerce work out a combined city automobile park, fair grounds, baseball diamond and aviation field will be made of the present Sorosis city park.

Elvie D. Kerby and John L. Rathie, convicted of first degree murder by a circuit court jury at Pendleton, were sentenced to be hanged at the state penitentiary Friday, December 3, by Circuit Judge Phelps.

With Bishop Shepard of Portland as the principal speaker, formal services attending the laying of the cornerstone of the new $40,000 Methodist Episcopal church were held in Bend Wednesday afternoon.

The Pacific Power & Light company, with headquarters in Portland, has filed application with the Oregon public service commission for permission to increase fares on its traction lines at Astoria from 5 to 7 cents.

Judges and clerks of election will hereafter receive an additional compensation of $1 a day for their services rendered in Douglas county, the county court having ordered that this sum be given for meals in addition to the $3 provided by law.

Sam A. Koser, secretary of state, has sent to all county clerks in Oregon instructions to make provision on the ballots at the November election for the election of a justice of the supreme court to succeed A. S. Bennett, resigned, and an attorney-general to succeed George M. Brown, who was appointed by Governor Olcott to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Bennett's resignation.

Ira N. Gabrielson, in charge of rodent control of the United States biological survey, was in Burns recently investigating the rabbit pest and taking steps to put his force in the field to aid in combating them.

The rainfall for September was the heaviest in 32 years, says the soils department at Oregon Agricultural college which keeps track of the weather statistics. A total of 5.4 inches of moisture fell during the month; the normal fall being 1.6 inches.

William Middlestadt was severely injured at Corvallis when a house fell upon him. He was moving the house when a part of the mover's mechanism slipped and let the house fall upon him, resulting in a broken collarbone, two fractured legs and a badly injured

JUST FUN

The Danger.
Visitor—According to this newspaper, the war cost—
Movie magnate—$-h-h!
Visitor—What's the matter?
Movie magnate—I don't want the star to hear any amount like that—
Film Fun.

Oh, Fudge.
"Some complain that women are no longer skilled in the use of the needle."
"Well?"
"But my wife can adjust one on a graphophone much better than I can."

Handicap.
"I don't think Edith will ever make a hit as a vocalist."
"She has a good voice."
"Yes, but she's got such a big mouth that there's an echo, and that spoils the effect of her singing."

Charitable View.
The Setter—What did the fends in human form cut your tail off for, Sport?
The Fox Terrier—Search me! Maybe one of the results of the high cost of living is dogtail soup.

The Part That Pleased.
"How did you enjoy the big meeting?"
"First rate," replied Farmer Corn-tassel. "The speeches didn't amount to much, but the hecklin' was right interestin'."

Professional Jealousy.
First Artist—Congratulate me, old man. I've just sold a picture to old banker Parvenu for $2,000.
Second Artist—Glad to hear it. The miserable old skinflint deserves to be stuck.

Worse Than Chickens.
"What did you raise in your garden last year?"
"Nothing. Some kids in the neighborhood raised cats in it."

Geology and Finance.
Some day the coal will all give out. Yet, as we fear the worst, we are convinced beyond a doubt, the cash will vanish first.

Incredulity.
Fortune Teller—I see on the cards that you are going to be married.
Fair Patron—I don't understand how you can see that on the cards when I haven't ordered them yet.

Cleaned Out.
Judge—Have you anything to offer the court before sentence is passed on you?
Prisoner—No, your honor; my lawyer took my last dollar.

Accepting the Correction.
The Gob—A strange cruiser has just passed us.
The Ensign—Say, "sir."
The Gob—A strange cruiser has just surpassed us.

Not Wanted.
"I can give you reading lights in your library of considerable candle power."
"But I don't want candles. I want electric light."

The Real Test.
"He has a great memory for names and faces."
"That's all right, but can he remember the times he borrows money from his friends?"

Loyalty.
"Pa, what is loyalty?"
"Loyalty, my boy, is that spirit which causes a man to turn down an offer of more money from the other fellow."

Hardest Kind of Work.
Housewife—There is plenty of work about if you'd only look for it.
Hobo—Yes, lady, an' by the time I've found it all my energy's gone.

On the Defense.
Oke—Would you be satisfied if you had all the money you wanted?
Owens—I'd be satisfied if I had all the money my creditors wanted.

An old Persian tale is seven maidens must prepare the dough for the wedding cake to insure seven children to the couple, seven being a perfect number.

With the old Romans, the eating or sending of wedding cake as a symbol that friendship shall not be broken was as solemn as the breaking of bread.