Average Duration of Life
Good authorities give the average duration of human life as about thirty-three years. One quarter of the people on the earth die before the age of six, one-half before the age of sixteen, and only about one person of each 100 born lives to the age of sixty-five. The deaths are calculated at sixty-seven a minute, 97,790 a day and 85,639,835 a year. Births are calculated at about seventy a minute, 100,800 a day and 36,792,000 a year.

Baltic Sea Leads in Amber
The principal source of the amber supply is the coast of the Baltic sea, more particularly in the vicinity of Königsberg. Even in ancient times this district constituted the "Kimmerley" of the amber world. At this place amber, which is really a mineralized resin of extinct pine trees, is freely washed up by the sea, especially after a violent storm. The fishermen use nets, with which they trawl the shallow waters.

The gargoyles of the cathedral of Notre Dame are particularly famous.
