HOT ENOUGH TO FRY EGGS
Congressman Langley Proves Statement True as Regards the Capitol Steps.
Washington.—"You win, John!" gasped Representative Joseph C. Pringle of Oklahoma, as he mopped his brow and lost a wager to Congressman John W. Langley of Kentucky. Langley bet that it was hot enough to fry eggs on the steps of the capitol.
Pringle asserted it could not be done. Langley obtained a pair of eggs from the house restaurant and started his culinary task. The frying was slow but when Langley flipped the eggs over and spotted a "sunny side up," Pringle admitted he had lost.

WIRE FOR FENCING POULTRY
Two-inch Mesh is Most Commonly Used and Can Be Purchased at Moderate Price.
(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Wire netting, two-inch mesh, is commonly used for fencing poultry yards and can be bought at a moderate price. Where several runs are adjoining, three-fourths of an inch or one-inch mesh wire should be used at the bottom to a height of two to two and one-half feet to keep the males from fighting one another.
The height of the fences should be regulated by the variety of fowls. The heaviest breeds, like the Brahmas, may be restrained by a four-foot fence, and most of the other breeds can be kept in by a six-foot fence. Hamburgs and Leghorns may be kept in the yards by clipping the flight feathers on one wing. Gates should be provided in order to permit access from one yard to the next.
If convenient, it is well to have double yards, for then one may rotate green crops. The yards may be sown to oats, wheat, or rye, and while the fowls are using one yard the green feed in the other can be getting a fresh start.
When the yards are to be on only one side of the house, they should be on the south side in order that the fowls may have the benefit of the first dry ground in early spring. It not infrequently happens that in localities where snow is abundant the ground on the south side is dry many days before that on the north side.
If the yards are to be in permanent sod and are to furnish green feed for the fowls, 70 to 80 square feet should be allowed for each bird, poultry specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture say. If part of the green feed is to be otherwise provided for, and the yards used mainly for exercise grounds, 35 to 40 square feet per bird will be sufficient.
Shade of some kind should be provided, and this can often be advantageously furnished by planting fruit trees (such as pears, plums, cherries, and apples) in the yard.

Something to Think About
By F. A. WALKER
THE QUESTIONER.

W HEN Shakespeare wanted to express the tragedy involved in the snuffing out of the life of his most intellectual character, he did it by these words, "The rest is silence."
He might have put it in another way, by saying that Hamlet would ask no more questions. For that was his most disconcerting habit.
Keeping silence before a puzzling world, and a puzzling universe, is something that man has never done.
The human being who just asked the reason for the first nightfall and the first appearance of the stars stood on the threshold of all modern scientific investigation.
So, if it were necessary to find a definition of man which would differentiate him from all the rest of creatures, it would be sufficient to say of him: "He is the animal that asks questions."

Rudyard Kipling in a striking line talked of "the law of the jungle." The writers of fables have not pulled the long bow in attributing to the beasts the sense of justice, even if they were making fun of society in doing so. So the lion stands for the maker of rules, and the monkey for him who evades them.
So law is not peculiar to the children of Adam.
The animals know political economy. "Go to the ant thou sluggard," said King Solomon.
This little creature shows what can be done through the organized efforts of thousands of insects, whose operations could be stopped in a moment by the foot of a passing giant in the shape of a mischievous boy.
So business organization is not exclusively human.
It is impossible to look at the combs of a beehive without realizing that the creatures who made it know geometry and architecture.
The cells are so constructed as to give the maximum of strength with the minimum of expenditure in the way of material.
So the Brooklyn bridge, or the dome of St. Peter's, is not a proof of human superiority.

There is a solitary eagle to be seen every day, soaring over a lake in western Ontario. Once he had a mate. But she disappeared one winter. Since then the widower has never married. The natives say that it is the habit of these birds to be perpetually true to their first and only love.
So constancy is not the exclusive virtue of our race.
When Christ wanted to express his affection for Jerusalem, he could think of nothing better to say than that he would have gathered his people about him, as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings. This timid bird will face any peril if she thinks that her young are in danger.
In the same way the bear of the North woods, which will fly before man under ordinary circumstances, will fight to the death if she thinks her cubs are threatened.
So family affection and devotion do not set mankind apart from the rest of the animal kingdom.

Only the other day a raccoon at the Bronx zoological gardens in New York, was in danger of starving to death because the gatekeeper who had tamed and petted him had been sent to the hospital. The animal would not take food from a stranger.
So fidelity and gratitude are not confined to the lords of creation.
But there is no reason to believe that the beasts of the jungle that have their hunting laws, or the ants that lay up their store for winter, or the bees that know practical geometry, or the eagle that mourns his dead

Banana Cream.
Slice three ripe bananas, press through a sieve, add a small box of crushed strawberries, reserving part of the juice; beat together lightly and set on ice to cool. Serve in glass cups with whipped cream to which has been added the reserved strawberry juice. Serve very cold.
During the hot weather the simple and less expensive desserts appeal to the housewife. Frozen dishes, when prepared at home, are always acceptable and cost very little.

Lemon Sherbet.
Take three lemons, two cupsful of sugar and a quart of rich milk. Mix the sugar and lemon juice, add a grated rind if desired, then stir in the milk. The mixture will curdle but when frozen will be smooth and very palatable. Serve in sherbet glasses.

Sugar in India.
The small Indian sugar grower makes no white sugar but simply boils down the juice and does not remove the molasses. The dark brown product is called gur or gul, and is generally sold and consumed without refining, although in some parts of the country a certain amount of modern sugar production is carried on.

Archbishop's Prerogatives.
By ancient right the archbishop of Canterbury is the only man in England who has the power to give to a layman a degree of medicine. He also may confer degrees of law, music or art on those whom he regards as having proved themselves worthy of such honors.

Threading a Needle.
Those having defective eyesight will gain much time when threading a sewing needle if they will use a pocket flashlight. Flash it behind the eye of the needle and immediately your needle will be threaded. Keep the flashlight in your machine drawer, where it will always be handy.

Cuticura Soothes Itching Scalp.
On retiring gently rub spots of dandruff and itching with Cuticura Ointment. Next morning shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Make them your every-day toilet preparations and have a clear skin and soft, white hands.—Adv.

A Cold Snap in Siberia.
In some parts of Siberia most of the food sold in shops is in a frozen state, milk being sold in long sticks and meat hacked with axes. The men walk around with beards caked with ice, and women incased wholly in wool or fur. No children are to be seen in the streets, the cold is so intense.

Oldest Botanical Work.
The oldest botanical work in the world is in the palace or temple of Karna Kat, Thebes, in Egypt. It is sculptured on the walls and represents foreign plants brought to Egypt by the sovereign Thothmes III after a campaign in Arabia. It shows the plant, flowers, bud and fruit.

Leaning Tower of Westminster.
A curious thing is happening to the massive tower of Westminster cathedral, a landmark for miles, which is leaning. It is three feet out of the perpendicular, but does not look an eighth of an inch out from any viewpoint.—London Times.

Bad Economy.
To save money by going without necessities is bad economy, but to waste anything lessens your wealth, the wealth of your country, and the wealth of the world.

The Puzzling Twins.
The new baby twins looked as alike as two peas in a pod. Harold stood looking at them and, looking up at his father he asked, "and aren't there even left or rights to 'em'?"

Inventor's Triumph.
For years it was believed that a machine could never be made which would weave wicker baskets and furniture. But a machine which produces flawless work at 30 times the speed of the best hand weaving is now in use.

Picturesque Custom.
A unique and picturesque custom in Korea is the handing down of a family hat from father to eldest son. This hat, made from the hair of family ancestors, is a priceless possession, and is so carefully handled that it does not wear out for generations.

Experienced Printer.
"Our new company is capitalized at $50,000,000." "Great! Let me see your prospectus." "Oh, we haven't got out a prospectus yet. The confounded printer wants his pay in advance." —Boston Transcript.

Victor Over Misfortune.
Happy is the man who can endure the highest and the lowest fortune. He who has endured such vicissitudes with equanimity has deprived misfortune of its power.—Seneca.
