I also tried various remedies for constipation and after finding the 'Discovery' so good, I thought I would also try the Pleasant Pellets and am glad to say that now I am enjoying excellent health."—J. Dogs Trained to Hunt Truffles.

The truffle is an edible fungus growth found in certain parts of Europe, growing a few inches underground, and is considered a delicacy for the table. Dogs are often trained to find them. They learn to detect the presence of the truffle under the surface of the soil by a faint odor given out by the truffle. The dog, when over the spot, stops and pats the ground with his paw. Then the man digs up the truffle.

The tongue of the frog is fixed to the floor of its mouth, near the lip; when not in use, the tongue lies back, pointing down the throat. The frog is very adept in the use of his tongue.

WOMAN TOO WEAK TO WALK

Now Works Nine Hours a Day.— Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Strength

Union Village, Vt.—"I was weak and nervous and all run-down. I could not walk across the floor without resting and I had been that way for weeks. I saw your advertisement in the paper and after taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt the good it was doing me and I took seven more in all. Before I finished I was able to work nine hours a day in a steam laundry. I cannot say too much in favor of your medicine. I trust all sick and suffering women will take it. It has been two years since I took it and I am strong and well."

—Mrs. L. A. GUIMANN, Union Village, Vermont.

This is only one of such letters we are continually publishing showing what Lydia E. Pinkham has done for women, and whether you work or not Mrs. Guimann's letter should interest you.

Many women get into a weak, nervous run down condition because of ailments they often have. Such women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of trouble. Good health is necessary and this splendid medicine will help you to keep it.

GLOOM IS CATCHING

EVEN though we are reasonably sure that the sun is still in the sky, a cloudy day depresses us. Most of us suffer from a feeling of foreboding even on a clear day, when a cloud comes between us and the distant fire that lights and warms the world.

We are similarly sensitive to all the little troubles of our lives—to anything that disturbs our regularly ordered existence.

A temporary illness—a suspicion that there are some kind of business breakers ahead—these things plunge us into gloom.

And we, in our turn, pass the gloom along. For our friends, seeing the black and foreboding faces that we wear, grow gloomy too.

One croaker on board a ship in a storm may send the whole passenger list into something very like a panic. Nobody loves a gloomy man—but everybody listens to him—and looks at him.

The prophet of evil is never without an audience. Poe, in his remarkable poem shows how the raven, by croaking the word "nevermore" was able to drive a luckless poet almost to the verge of insanity.

Continual gloom is not good for the soul, any more than continual shadow would be good for the green and blossoming things upon the surface of the earth.

We all need sunshine and a great deal of it. It is not necessary to go about continually telling people how happy we are, like Pollyanna, but we can at least keep our trouble to ourself, and not look as if we were limping along toward the grave or the gallows.

The gloomy man or woman in a home destroys the happiness of an entire family—and usually drives the children out on the streets, where at least there is air and sunshine, and maybe now and then a hurdy-gurdy.

The reason the jazz is popular, that the comic supplement sells by the million copies, and that the comedian gets a thousand dollars a week is because we will do anything to get rid of gloom.

It is a burden on life, a menace to human happiness. If you are a gloom addict, change your mode of thought. You are as much of a menace to the community in which you move as was "Typhoid Mary" to hers.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

"YES" AND "NO"

THESE two little words, yes and no, with which men have been wrestling for ages, are vocabularies of enormous meaning, capable of settling all the simple and complex problems in life, when used with utmost wisdom and likewise with utmost caution.

In Washington, the statesmen who were debating and adjusting the question of limited armament found it difficult at times to apply "yes" and "no" to the interrogations which naturally arose in the discussion, and in which the whole world is vitally interested.

To use these monosyllables at the right time and in the proper place is the earnest wish of every fair-minded man or woman who would have "peace and good-will on earth."

But to do so in truth and mercy, when dissension is rife and righteousness seems to be tumbling noisily like mountains in an earthquake, requires the wisdom of Solomon and the patience of Job, accompanied with divine guidance.

How many lives of promising young men and women have been blighted by the indiscriminate playing of "yes" and "no"?

How many nations have gone to war through the utterance in anger of a ruthless "yes" when a complacent "no" authoritatively spoken, might have saved millions of precious lives, untold sorrows and inestimable treasure?

He or she who makes merry with these small words without giving thought to the immensity of their power to create or destroy, is risking everything in this life, and possibly in the life to come.

Though these words may seem but mere pigmies in the world's vocabulary, they are really veritable giants, terrible in their wrath, but cheering, consoling and inspiring in their love.

It matters not how exalted or lowly you are, or whether you be rich or poor, strong or weak, you cannot at any time in your dealings with others afford to summon up "yes" or "no" without first giving serious thought of what may likely follow.

In all circumstances it will be found advisable to use neither word until you are absolutely sure of your ground and know your own heart.

Do that in all sincerity, and "yes" and "no" will be found faithful friends.

Little Real Graham Flour.

Graham flour derives its name from Sylvester Graham, a Connecticut clergyman, who advocated the use of unbolted wheat flour as more conducive to health than white flour. His contentions have been fully borne out by recent discoveries in regard to vitamins. Much of the so-called Graham flour sold now is, however, merely white flour mixed with a little bran, or flour so coarsely ground as to be unpalatable.

Remarkable Tree.

The Kentucky coffee tree is one of the most remarkable of our American forest trees, says the American Forestry Magazine. It may grow to be fully 100 feet in height; and, although it is to be found over a good part of eastern United States, it is one of the very rarest of our forest trees.

Telling Age of Trees.

Trees often live to a great age, and while they are standing it is a difficult matter to arrive at their age, but when they have been cut down, it is said, the age may be reckoned by counting the number of rings visible in the section.—Indianapolis News.

Vertebrae in the Neck.

All mammals have the same number of vertebrae in their necks—seven. These seem adequate enough for a man or a mouse or a tiger, but very few for a giraffe. Yet there they are—count them—seven!
