Non-resident fees for students in the college and university increased from $60 to $105 a year, effective with the opening of the next fall term, by action of a joint committee of regents of both institutions in Albany.

The two Oregon institutions by this action, taken as a means of reducing the burden of state taxation, puts the two Oregon institutions on a par with the state universities of Washington and California in respect to non-resident tuition. In each of the neighboring states the differential between the charges paid by the residents and those paid by students from outside the state is equal to the $105 to be charged in Oregon.

Graduate students in both institutions will be exempt under the new fee. The committee of regents emphasizes that the increased fee is not retroactive, any non-resident who has entered the university or the college under the present fee of $60 a year will be permitted to finish his course at that rate. To put the fees where they would be prohibitive and at the same time would be on an even basis with other states, so that the flow of non-resident students would neither be entirely cut off nor become a flood which would tax the institutions' facilities was the aim of the committee.

Members of the joint committee considering fees were J. K. Weatherford of Albany, chairman; Walter M. Pierce of La Grande, and President W. J. Kerr from the college and Judge J. W. Hamilton of Roseburg, chairman; C. E. Woodson of Heppner, W. S. Gilbert of Astoria, and President P. L. Campbell from the university.

Something that is now creating considerable interest among the farmers of Polk county is the grain and potato certification that was done last week under the direction of Professor G. R. Hyslop, chief of the department of farm crops at the Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis.

This important work is accomplished by inspecting the crops in the field in order to observe their purity and freedom from the various diseases. The main object of the certification work, according to a statement made by Paul Carpenter, county agent, is to secure a pure and high-grade seed stock. Owing to potatoes and grain being badly mixed, but few of the county fields can qualify on certification.

Out of 76 school districts in Polk county reports have been received at the office of Josiah Wills, county superintendent of schools, from 75 of them. These reports cover every detail of the school year in each of the districts, and after being received at the superin-

Several inspections are made of each field during a season and if the crop qualifies a certificate is issued by the Oregon Agricultural college indicating the quality shown. Mr. Carpenter further states that the market values of the county's grain and potatoes are very generally lower due to the mixture of varieties, and in the case of the potatoes to heavy infestation of disease.
