Six Daly Fund Girls In Normal School

During his lifetime Bernard Daly of Lake county was not highly regarded by his fellow citizens. He was a physician and capitalist and lost no opportunity to add to his possessions. He was regarded as a progressive by the boosters and apparently cared nothing at all for the advancement of the locality in which he lived. Since his death, however, public opinion in Lake county regarding him has radically changed. At his death by the terms of a will then made public, a fund of something like a million dollars was turned over as a trust fund for the education of Lake county young people and in a manner which advertises the county in a most advantageous manner.

The income from the fund is devoted to keeping a certain number of young people in the higher institutions of learning. High school graduates are selected by competitive tests and each is allowed expenses up to $600 per year.

At present there are six beneficiaries of this fund attending the Normal. They board with Miss Doughty. According to the terms of the will these girls must report monthly to President Landers who audits their expense bills and orders the payment of the same. The students are required to adhere to a certain standard of conduct also.

Each year the number of students who can profit through this fund will become greater. At present there are 20 of them, those other than the six in Monmouth being at Corvallis and Eugene. They may go to school for six years.

A condition of the fund that interests Lake county especially is that no student can use the fund whose parents do not own land in Lake county. There are students at the Normal from Lake county who cannot qualify because of this land owning restriction and therefore must pay their own way.

Mr. Daly was a bachelor but he left relatives who tried to break the will, but they could not do it. That the conditions of the fund will advertise Lake county is evident from the organization of the local girls, reported in another column of the Herald.

J. E. Riney was given the initiatory degree by the Odd Fellows Monday night. With three applications there are six candidates in line and the local brethren are looking forward to a busy January.

Albany Miracle Man Attracts Big Crowds

Numbers of people from this vicinity have attended the evangelistic services at Albany in which miraculous healing power is claimed and which draw to an end this week. The meetings have undoubtedly been one of the biggest of events that have occurred in this section for years. The Albany armory, holding over two thousand people, through a month's series of meetings, has at no time been able to house over two thirds of the people who have sought admission.

From all quarters of the northwest sick people have come and the exhibit of "the lame, the halt and the blind" at the meetings has been such as might characterize a metropolitan hospital. The professed cures at the three meetings a week when healing is practiced, is implicitly believed in and testified to by many people of distinct credibility.

There are people, however, who assert that the evangelist is, consciously or unconsciously, a hypnotist and that the state of coma by which many who seek healing are overpowered is really a state of mesmerism.

Mrs. Price, wife of the evangelist, states that while a resident of Alaska she was in the last stages of tuberculosis, but for the sake of her small children determined to live and through prayer and meditation on the promises of scripture, she has since attained robust health.

Here is a story of healing told by an exchange.

The outstanding feature of the evangelistic and healing service was the faith shown by all present. Practically every man, woman and child in the audience held up his hand when asked how many believed the Lord was healing the people who were anointed.

An instance was that of Wilbur Spough of Roseburg, who has been paralyzed for 16 years. He had attended the services since Wednesday night, but was not numbered in the healing line. While sitting in the audience beside his mother, he was touched by the hidden force and fell forward. Dr. Price went down from the platform and anointed him, rebuking the ailment. The boy rose from his seat, an act he had not done for 16 years, and walked a few steps, then sank to the floor under the power, remaining there until nearly midnight. Next morning he walked to the elevator in the hotel without his crutches and into the dining room. After breakfast he returned unaided to his room.

Spough fell from a tree when 14 years old, dislocating two vertebrae in his neck. This caused him to become paralyzed from just below the arm.

For five years he was confined to his bed, his parents declare, not even being able to feed himself. For the remaining 11 years he has been able to move slowly with the aid of crutches, but even then was not able to rise from a chair without assistance. All sense of balance was lost to him, he said.

When interviewed at his hotel this morning he said that he could feel life in his limbs, which had not been felt before. He declared that he could fairly feel the new strength tingling in his veins. He arose from his chair and stood without aid to further convince those present. Mr. Spough has followed the jewelry business in Roseburg for some time.

An X-ray picture of his neck, taken by one of the leading doctors of Portland, showed the two vertebrae out of place, which partially severed the spinal cord. It is the second case on record where a person has lived after having his neck broken, it is said. The testimony concerning the young man's condition was corroborated by O. E. Holdridge, a local man, who knew Mr. Spough personally and lived in the same neighborhood for many years.—Benton County Courier.

HIGH SCHOOL

In the first basket ball game of the season Monmouth high went down to defeat before the Independence team by a score of 20-25. The game was rather free from rough tactics and was hotly contested throughout. Monmouth took the lead in scoring, making three points before the visitors got well started. At the end of the first half the score stood 5-9 in favor of Independence. Near the middle of the second half Monmouth rallied and passed her rival by one point but was unable to hold her lead. A large crowd saw the game. Independence brought over a large delegation of rooters armed with an over supply of noise making devices.

Dallas High sent word Wednesday cancelling the pending basket ball game between the two schools. The stated cause was that the Dallas High School had been unable to rent the armory for athletic purposes.

A basket ball game will be played at Airlie, between Monmouth and Airlie, Friday, December 8th.

Since the old basket ball has been worn out, a new one has been purchased.

Ten dollars was sent to the Near East Relief this week. This makes a total of the twenty five dollars that have been sent to them by the High School.

Claire W. Wamsley, one of Monmouth's Junior classmen, has joined the United States Marines. We are sorry to lose him, but we wish him the best of good luck.

The Monmouth school board met in regular session December second. The principal items that were disposed of were, monthly bills were paid, and the clerk was authorized to receive bids for forty cords of ash wood and twenty cords of fir wood. Harold Lane

Valsetz School News—A box social was held on Saturday evening, November 25. The affair was under the direction of the Parent-Teacher Association. A large number attended. A dance was held after the boxes were sold. The amount realized from the sale of boxes was $160 which is to be used to defray expenses of hot lunch in the school.

While snow fell in this vicinity Monday morning it melted as soon as it touched the ground. In Dallas there was enough to cover everything with white and cars coming from there had a snowy cover.

The regular meeting of the civic club is to be held December 15. As this is the busy season women are invited to bring their work with them, but to come out as there are a number of matters awaiting attention.

Regular Grange meeting next Saturday with sessions in the new Odd Fellows' Hall. Election of officers is the program in the afternoon and all members are urged to be present.

Effie L. Young recently received a pedigree white Leghorn cockerel from the Oregon Agricultural College. His dam has a record of 608 eggs in 3 years, and one of his grand dams has a record of 302 eggs in one year. The dam's record is considered the more valuable of the two as it shows exceptional vigor and ability to make a profitable production year after year.

Road Bond Issue Held to be Legal

Market road bonds of $265,000 voted in Polk county at a special election June 3, 1919, are held to be valid in an order of the circuit court at Dallas handed down Saturday, according to information received by the state highway department.

The validity of the bonds was attacked by R. M. Walker, S. C. Hanna, H. Mattison, J. E. Hubbard and C. D. Calbreath on grounds that the order of the county court calling the election did not state the interest rate that the bonds were to bear, except to state that it should not be in excess of 6 per cent, also that the order did not set forth what particular roads between points mentioned were to be improved.—Telegram.

Lake County Girls Organize

The Lake County girls residing with Miss Armilda Doughty, have organized their house this week. Six of them received scholarships under the Bernard Daly Educational Fund. Their house is now the "L. C. D. C. House". This include all students from Lake County as well as those receiving scholarships. The officers are as follows: President, Amy Ogle; Vice President, Mildred Duke; Secretary, Iva Yordy; Treasurer, Olive Stevenson; Sergeant at Arms, Verne Powell; Editor, Gladys Snyder.

Community Tree

At a meeting of the committee from the Civic club on Community Christmas Tree it was determined that the expense would be nominal as the business men will turn out in sufficient force to get the tree and help install it, donating their services for "love of the community". The committee decided that everybody could and would enter into the spirit of the community tree better if they make it theirs by giving a penny or more towards the perfecting of the plan. Hence a box, properly labeled will be left at the Post office so that every one my deposit his or her community mite; and thus make it "So much t' eir own". The committee's aim is to have the well lighted tree, "Christmas Cheer", installed by the 15th and kept up and lighted evenings until after the Yuletide and longer if it is the wish of the community. On one evening at least there will be a program of community singing with probably some special numbers.

The Community Tree Committee.

Long for Rain

According to a letter received locally this week, Mrs. Ruby Muhleman finds her house on wheels quite convenient in Southern California. The Muhlemans are in Pasadena and rents there for small cottages are from $45 to $75 per month. City lots sell for from $700 to $5000. With sunshine almost too hot for comfort and beautiful scenery and surroundings the Muhlemans are enjoying life. With a little Oregon rain they think it would be perfect there.

The Busy Bees met with Mrs. Charles Newman Wednesday afternoon. The B. B.'s, comprise the whole of the feminine portion of North Monmouth and when they are in session the men wander around like homeless cats.
