Backed Into Plate Glass

Henry Clifford, living on the east side of town, backed into the plate glass front of the Blue Garden, the Bilyeu & Gardner confectionery, 408 Main street, Saturday afternoon. Damage that may amount to $250 for broken plate glass windows, marble base and a fancy tea set, was done, besides the damage to the car. Mr. Clifford had been accustomed to driving a Ford, and when the Jewett car he was driving started over the curb he stepped on the accelerator when he wanted to shift gears, with the result that the car was slowly backed up and caused the damage, despite the fact that the emergency break was on.—Observer.

HINTS ON GRAPEGROWING BY AN OREGON SPECIALIST

Growing grapes under Oregon conditions is described in a new Experiment station bulletin, "Grape Growing in Oregon", by C. E. Schuster, assistant pomologist. Varieties, location of planting, suitable soils, moisture and fertility, cultivation, training, protection from insect and disease injury, picking and handling the crop, are treated from the grower's angle.

Grapes must be grown in locations as free from frost as possible, Schuster says. The best locations are slopes 50 to 100 feet above the valley floor, with open spaces below to permit the cold air to drain off before damaging the grapes. The soil should be deep and well drained with a fair amount of fertility. Manures are preferable to commercial fertilizers.

In the cooler regions American varieties are the best, Campbell's early being the best of these. In warmer districts and well protected locations where European varieties are tried the Flame Tokay is one of the best to grow.

Development of the framework of the vine requires the first three years.

CHEVROLET

In 1922 Chevrolet jumped from seventh to second place in sales of all cars, and to first place in sales of fully equipped modern cars.

Purchases by farmers were the chief factor in this remarkable development.

Farmers want automobiles not only of low first price, but also of low later cost for operation and maintenance. They want room, comfort, and ability to stand up under hard conditions. They find that Chevrolet, fully equipped as sold, is the best value per dollar in the low priced field, and neighbors tell them it costs less per mile to operate.
