FARM REMINDERS

The great loss of stone fruits in Oregon last year due to brown rot prompted the experiment station to publish a circular on the subject. This circular was written by H. P. Barss, station plant pathologist, and includes results and information secured from 5 years of experiment work.

The nature of brown-rot and related troubles, natural conditions promoting and retarding growth, and the control measures and materials used are the main topics covered. This is the first material put out on brown-rot in Oregon for nearly 15 years. The circular is well illustrated. It is distributed free and may be obtained by writing to the college at Corvallis and requesting experiment station circular number 53.

Peach leaf curl spray of bordeaux 6-6-50 must be applied before the buds begin to break to be effective. On early varieties like the Elberta, warm weather will bring on rapid expansion of the buds.

Farmers contemplating the use of commercial fertilizers, should determine what ones and amounts they are going to use, and place their orders so the materials will reach them and be on hand to be applied at the proper time.

TALES OF THE OLD FRONTIER

THE LONE DEFENDER

IF HE had been a white man his name and fame might have been a cherished tradition in frontier history. But he was only a nameless Indian warrior, one of Chief Black Hawk's Sacs, who took part in the battle of Bad Axe river in Wisconsin in 1832. This engagement is one which reflects small credit upon the American arms for it degenerated into little more than a massacre, not only of warriors who were trying to surrender but of women and children as well.

Not far from where the main contest was raging was a little island separated from the shore by a few rods of water and covered with stunted willows. From it a galling fire was poured into the company of regulars commanded by Captain Reilly and when the soldiers dashed into the water to occupy the island one of them was shot down. The soldiers immediately retreated, leaving him struggling in the water, but two of his comrades seeing his plight plunged in to rescue him. One of them was shot through the head and was instantly killed.

Other soldiers then sprang into the water to rescue the two fallen men and still a third was shot down. After that they gave up the attempt to take the island. Soon afterward they caught sight of a colored object among the willows and poured several volleys into it.

The next day, after the battle was over and the survivors of Black Hawk's band had retreated, a party of soldiers crossed over to the island to see how large a force had been entrenched there. They found that it had been held by a lone Indian who had been fighting to protect his squaw and his little son. The bright-colored object which had drawn their fire was a blanket hung up for that purpose at a little distance from where the warrior and his family were lying and it had been torn into shreds.

The Indian woman had been killed by a stray shot, but the little boy was still alive, although suffering from a broken arm received from the bullet which had killed his mother. He was tenderly cared for by the soldiers, but died soon afterwards. The father, believing both dead, had escaped. He had swum the Mississippi on a small log and he was tracked by a party of Winnebago Indian scouts who discovered where he landed on the Iowa shore.

They followed his trail for some distance until they came to a little grove of trees. Suddenly one of the Winnebagos stopped and silently pointed toward the top of a tree. A volley of rifle shots rang out and the "lone defender" tumbled down to the ground—dead.

Had to Whistle.

"Since prohibition went into effect churches have been having difficulty in obtaining wine for sacramental purposes, and a little negro church in the South was no exception," says Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president. "The pastor finally, after going the rounds, called on some of the sisters of the church to make some wine which could be used."

"One old negro woman said she would provide the wine, but when she went to find something to make the wine out of the only thing she could find was persimmons. So she made persimmon wine."

"Everything went all right at the church the day of the services and all the brothers and sisters partook of persimmon wine. The only trouble was that when it came to the doxology everybody had to whistle."—Chicago Daily Journal.

Home Really an Investment.

Your home should be looked upon as an investment—not as a speculation. The return which a home would pay you and your family is not to be measured alone by the money and rent saved. From a dozen different angles it will prove to be the best investment of your life.—Charles G. Edwards, president of Real Estate Board of New York.

Why That Lame Back?

That morning lameness—those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and rest impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back—look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Salem resident's example.

G. N. Ireland, 1092 Broadway, Salem, Ore., says: "I have used Doan's Pills and can recommend them as a good kidney remedy. I had kidney trouble and my back often ached as if it would break. My kidneys acted infrequently and the secretions were highly colored and contained sediment. I used Doan's Pills and they helped me wonderfully. They rid me of the backache and pains and regulated my kidneys."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills,—the same that Mr. Ireland had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sick for Ten Years Gained 60 Pounds by Use of PE-RU-NA

Mr. John Wick

No matter how long you have been sick or how much you have suffered, you must not give up hope. Mr. John Wick, of Monmouth Falls, Wisconsin, did not and is a well man today. In September, 1918, he wrote: "I have been a user of Pe-ru-na for nearly twenty years. I had catarrh of the stomach for ten years. Nothing did me any good. I grew worse until a friend advised me to try Pe-ru-na. While using the first bottle, I felt I had found the right medicine. I am entirely cured. My weight was down to 100 pounds and now I weigh 160 pounds. I have used very little medicine for the last ten years."

The condition known as catarrh is not confined to the nose and throat. It may be found wherever there are mucous membranes and is responsible for a multitude of troubles. Coughs and colds are catarrhal as well as stomach and bowel disorders.

Do as John Wick did. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. It stimulates digestion, aids in throwing off the poisonous secretions, enriches the blood, increases the resistance to disease and promotes good health generally.

Insist upon having genuine Pe-ru-na in either tablet or liquid form. Your dealer has it.
